U.K. Labor Party, Canada's CCF 'Exact Parallels', Says Attlee

By MONTE ROBERTS

The British Labor Party and the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation are exact parallels, Clement Attlee told The Times in an exclusive interview today.

The leader of the British party spoke in his Empress Hotel suite, in the presence of four prominent CCFers: Arnold Webster, B.C. leader; Ernest Winch, veteran MLA; Frank Snowsell, former MLA for Saanich, and Lorne Ingle, national CCF secretary.

Mr. Attlee was asked: "Do you consider the CCF movement here similar to your Labor party in Britain?"

He replied: "Yes, very much so. Politically we are the same. I would say our economic objectives are also parallel."

Mr. Webster agreed the two parties were "exact parallels."

"We are free democratic socialists," Mr. Attlee explained. "We are dead against totalitarians."

At a previous press conference in Vancouver, Mr. Attlee had refused to comment on the future of the CCF party. "That's a Canadian matter, and I shouldn't interfere," he said.

The veteran advocate of nationalization (if he wins the May 26 election, his party will renationalize the transport and steel industries) was relaxed and in a quietly smiling mood today.

Prior to his speech tonight in Memorial Arena, his Victoria hosts planned an extensive motor tour of the city and surrounding districts, including a drive to the M[illegible] summit.

"I've seen little of your city so far," he remarked. "But what I've seen is truly beautiful."

It is his first visit to the B.C. capital.

Mr. Attlee was asked to comment on the growth of the Social Credit party in Canada, which now controls two provincial governments.

"I don't know about strength here," he said, "but if Social Credit is growing in Canada, it is the only place in the world that I know of where it is growing.

"In England, Social Credit is a dead issue. I can't remember anyone who is a Social Crediter."

NO GREEN SHIRTS

Mr. Attlee's eyes twinkled as he grinned, jokingly, "a long time ago we had some of them running around in green shirts. But we don't have anyone wearing fancy shirts over there now."

Up until time for his speech today he was looking forward to a bit of a holiday after his strenuous cross-Canada tour, sponsored by the [illegible]tional CCF party. His tour was curtailed so he could plunge into the election campaign, and tonight will see his final public appearance.

He visited City Hall at 10.15 a.m., to be greeted by Mayor Claude Harrison and municipal reeves. An informal visit to the Veterans' Hospital was to be worked in today if possible.

CAN BE SHARP

Although he is a forceful public speaker, Mr. Attlee in private is quiet, humorous, friendly. Slight in build, stooped in shoulder, he gives one the impression of mildness, although he has been known to be extremely sharp with questioners.

His manner is that of the professor emeritus with a world of knowledge in his head, a successful career behind him, and peace and contentment ahead.

Actually, as the world knows, he faces a slam-bang fight to defeat the Conservative government, and immediately upon his return to England will start hammering away at the issues of the campaign—mainly the cost of living, which, he says, has risen sharply during the life of the present government.

He doesn't feel Sir Winston's retirement will make any difference to the election, and that the Labor party would win in any event.

As he entered City Hall this morning, a bystander called, "There goes the next prime minister of England."

Two former British schoolboys were reunited at City Hall this morning. They hadn't seen one another for 54 years since they attended England's Haileybury College.

Recognition was almost instantaneous. The one visiting here from England recalled the address of the other's father, quoted the first names of both his brothers.

The visitor used to be a noted rugger player at Haileybury and the local man, J. H. Frank of Comox, asked him, "Bet you can't run as fast as you did then?"

"No, no," laughed former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

Attlee expressed surprise and regret when he was told in Victoria today of the death of Albert Einstein.

"I had never met him, but he was a great man," he said.

Ticket sales for the Attlee address at 8 tonight at Memorial Arena were stepped up with arrival of the former British PM this morning.

Drug Hearings Open

VANCOUVER (BUP) — Mayor Fred Hume rose as the first witness before the Senate narcotics committee as the group opened its week-long sittings here today into the west coast drug problem.

Bandung Talks Open With Slap At Communism

Chou Unruffled By Jamali Blast

(From AP and UP)

BANDUNG, Indonesia — Irak's Foreign Minister Fadhil Jamali denounced international Communism before the Asian-African conference today and drew prolonged applause from many of the 29 delegations.

Jamali charged "international communism is a materialistic religion that breeds hatred among classes and peoples." Prime Minister Nehru's Indian delegation heard out the speech in silence.

Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China listened with set face and later passed up a chance to use the forum of the 29-nation Afro-Asian conference to reply. It appeared he had turned to a "soft line" to win support for Peiping.

Diplomatic sources had speculated before the conference began he might try to win support for his policies by impeccable behavior. Today he was all smiles.

"Communism is a new form of colonialism much more dangerous to us than the old colonialism," declared Jamali, whose Arab country is linked indirectly with the North Atlantic powers through an alliance with Turkey. "No nation on earth is free from its effects."

CONGRATULATED BY ALI

Premier Mohammed Ali of Pakistan, which has a mutual aid treaty with the United States, walked across the conference room shook hands with Jamali and congratulated him at the end of the speech.

Indonesian President Soekarno opened the conference with a declaration that the population of Asia and Africa, totalling more than a billion, "can inject the voice of reason into world affairs."

The inaugural session of the week-long meeting—first of its kind—was a mass of vivid colors as the 400 delegates in their contrasting national costumes circulated about the white-walled, fluorescent-lit ballroom of the Dutch Club.

SPEAKS IN ENGLISH

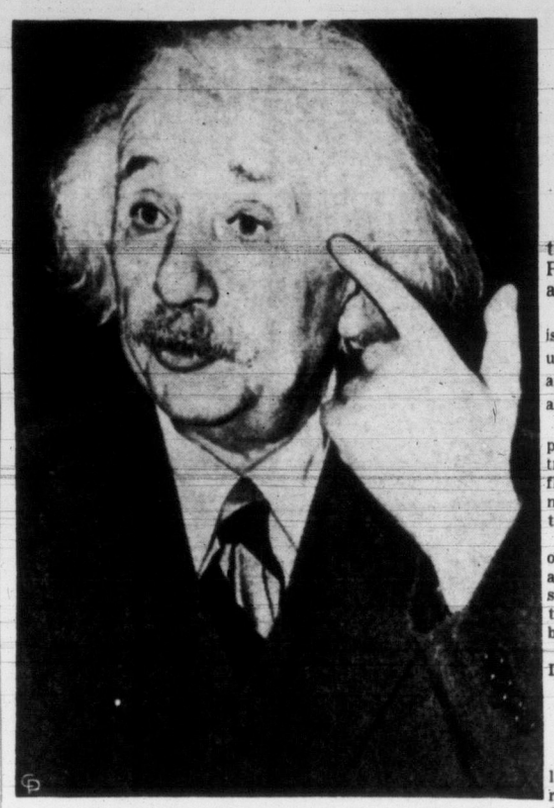
"Today we are faced with a situation where the well being of mankind is not always the primary consideration. Many who are in places of high power think, rather, of controlling the world."

"We are living in a world of fear," he continued, "fear of the future, of the hydrogen bomb and of ideologies."



Genius—With the Common Touch

'GREATEST ACHIEVEMENT—OF INTELLECT'

Desert Became Green Glass When Simple Formula Tried

PRINCETON, N.J. (UP) — In 1905, Einstein propounded the famous equation which set men on the search for atomic energy.

It still looks simple—E equals MC2. Translated: Energy equals mass (in grams) times the speed of light (in centimeters) squared.

On July 16, 1945, mass and the speed of light fused a bit of New Mexico desert into green glass when the first atomic bomb exploded.

The "simplicity" of the atomic formula, however, may prove among the least of Einstein's contributions to the understanding of the universe.

Einstein's special and general theories of relativity, published in 1905 and 1916, illuminated by his further work, were described by Bertrand Russell in 1924 as "probably the greatest synthetic achievement of the human intellect up to the present time."

In them, Einstein propounded the inter-relation of the forces of matter and energy, space and time, gravitation and inertia, into a cosmic whole.

Einstein once gave this as his formula for success:

"If A is success in life, the rule might be expressed:

"A equals X plus Y plus Z.

"X being work and Y being play and Z keeping your mouth shut."

Einstein won world renown as a scientist, but he once said that if he had to do it over again he would not go into that field.

"I would rather choose to be a plumber or a peddler in the hope to find that modest degree of independence still available under present circumstances."

During the 1920s, Einstein's theory of relativity became a popular topic of speculation and jokes by laymen who understood nothing of it. One popular limerick about it ran:

There was a young lady called Bright,
Who could travel much faster than light;
She went out one day
In a relative way,
And came back the previous night.

Then there was Franklin P. Adams' gibe at the several famous Steins, which went:

Marvelous is the family of Stein;
There's Ep, there's Gert and there's Ein.
Ep's statues are junk,
Gert's poems are punk,
And nobody understands Ein.

WANT LONG LIFE? HERE'S RECIPE

Dulles Sees 'Grave Implications' In Red Air Build-Up Off Formosa

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told President Eisenhower Sunday that Red China has launched an intensive build-up of offensive air power opposite Formosa which has "grave implications" for the United States.

Dulles, who visited President Eisenhower at his vacation retreat here, said his country only learned of the Communist air activities in the "last few days" but they had been going on for several weeks.

Dulles, who returned to Washington Sunday after a two-hour conference with the president, said the Red build-up was "a considerable intensification and considerably broader in scope than anything that was known until recently."

He and the president discussed the "grave implications" surrounding the build-up, Dulles said, but he refused to say whether attacks on the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Matsu or the Nationalist stronghold of Formosa might be forthcoming. The secretary of state went on to say, however, that the increased airpower foreshadows a greater "capability" for attack "than we had been aware of a few weeks ago."

WASHINGTON (UP)—Former President Truman today called on the United States to bring "the current threats to world peace" before the United Nations General Assembly.

"Wherever we can, we should use it," Mr. Truman said. "And we should use it now by bringing before the General Assembly the current threats to world peace."

The United States only learned of the buildup "several days ago," Dulles said, upon receipt of new reports from the Far East.

A Communist buildup across the Formosa Straits was reported last month and Admiral Robert B. Carney, chief of naval operations, was identified as the source of the report.

The question of whether the president should proclaim the stand this nation will take in event of an attack on Quemoy or Matsou has been the subject of a hot controversy in recent weeks.

Several Republican leaders, among them Sens. William F. Knowland of California and Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, have urged Mr. Eisenhower to make known the administration's intentions.

Giant Intellect, Daring Mathematics Blazed Science Trail

(Compiled From AP and UP Dispatches)

The frail little cosmic physicist, whose theory of relativity unlocked the door to the atomic age, died at 1.15 a.m. with only a nurse at his bedside.

Einstein had entered the hospital secretly last Friday for treatment of a gall bladder inflammation. His condition was not considered critical at that time.

Dr. Thomas S. Harvey, pathologist at Princeton Hospital, said a condition known as arteriosclerosis developed a blister on the side of the aorta, which broke and caused a hemorrhage.

"The leak of blood was slow," Dr. Harvey said, "and Dr. Einstein eventually lost enough blood to cause death."

Mrs. William Russell, secretary to Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, director of the Institute for Advanced Study, where Einstein worked for more than 20 years, said funeral services would be "strictly private." They will not be announced in advance, she said.

The shy, white-haired scholar was credited with making possible the atomic bomb by disclosing a small quantity of matter could produce vast amounts of energy.

Monumental Treatise

As recently as 1950, he published a monumental mathematical treatise, the unified field theory. This was hailed as a daring type of mathematics which sought to describe the forces of the universe in a set of equations.

At the time of his death, Einstein was a professor emeritus at the Institute for Advanced Study, comprised of world-famous scholars and headed by Dr. Oppenheimer. During his late years, he was outspoken in many causes far removed from the realm of theoretical physics.

On several occasions he advised witnesses called before Congress subversive investigations committee that they had a duty to refuse to answer questions.

Einstein asked the president for commutation of the death sentence of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, who were executed as atom spies.

He said he had to take the stand because of "my passionate sense of social justice and social responsibilities."

The quiet, unpretentious wizard of mathematics and physics, spent his lifetime searching for a unified mathematical concept of the laws that govern the universe.

World-Famed at 26

Born in Ulm, Germany, March 14, 1879, of middle class Jewish parents, he was swept to international fame by the theory of relativity which he devised at the age of 26.

A revolutionary idea, it added a fourth dimension, time, to the trio—length, breadth and width—which had formed man's basic knowledge of the measurement of matter. It also astounded scientists by disputing Newton's law of gravitation.

It was Einstein's disclosure, many years ago, that a small quantity of matter could produce astronomical quantities of energy, which was so spectacularly proved when the first atomic bomb exploded.

In 1945, shortly after the dropping of the bomb on Hiroshima, he commented:

"At present atomic energy is not a boon to mankind, but a menace." He saw one hope, however, that "it many intimidate the human race to bring order into its international affairs, which, without pressure of fear, it undoubtedly would not do."

Equations Aided TV

A theoretical physicist, the tools of his trade were a fountain pen and a pad of paper.

Though few people understood Einstein's complex theories, his work is one of the important bases of today's electronic and television industries, and the great industrial developments which rely partly on the laws of atomic mass and energy.

He received the Nobel prize in physics in 1921 and the world heaped honors and adulation upon the modest scientist, who pleaded:

"Let every man be respected as an individual and no man idolized. It is an irony of fate that I myself have been the recipient of excessive admiration and respect from my fellows through no fault of my own."

Voluntary Exile

Einstein came to Princeton as a lifetime member of the institute in 1933, a voluntary exile from his native Germany, where the Nazis listed him as "an enemy of the state."

During recent years, Einstein headed a group of nationally-prominent scientists who comprised the Emergency Committee of Atomic Scientists. The organization was formed "to advance the use of atomic energy in ways beneficial to mankind."

An ardent Zionist, Einstein was among those who, after the Second World War, urged the free entry of Jews into Palestine and establishment of a democratic Jewish commonwealth in that country.

In a message to the world college of intellects at Warsaw in 1948, Einstein advocated a "supra-national organization" to own what he called "horrible weapons" devised in recent years.

He was a member of a committee of 15 famous scientists, formed in 1948, as the scientists' committee on loyalty problems, to provide a fair deal for scientists accused of disloyalty to the United States.

The life of this amazing intellectual giant was simple and modest. His disdain for personal glory and material gain were almost a legend. His baggy-clad figure, a pipe perpetually in his mouth, and his long shaggy white hair and mustache, made him instantly recognizable almost anywhere in the world.

In his leisure Einstein loved to play the violin and to go sailing.

Twice Married

Einstein was married twice. First in 1903 to Mileva Maric, a Serbian Catholic whom he later divorced. They had two sons, Albert, now professor of hydraulics at University of California, and Edward, still in Switzerland. The second marriage in 1915 was to Elsa Einstein, his first cousin, who bore him two daughters, Ilse, who died in 1934, and Margot.

After his second wife's death in 1936, Einstein lived a secluded life in Princeton with his daughter Margot, and his housekeeper - secretary, Miss Helen Dukas.

Einstein, in his efforts to hammer out a mathematical concept of the universe, once told his fellow scientists, "I cannot believe that God plays dice with the world."

The learned teacher also commented he had "a kind of faith that helped me through my whole life—not to become hopeless in the great difficulties of investigation."

From Einstein's father, Hermann, an electrical engineer, he got his first glimpses of the world of science. From his mother, Pauline Koch, he acquired his love of music and art.

Because he did not speak a word until he was three years old, his parents feared there might be something wrong with their child. They need not have worried.

At 10, he was given a geometry book and had mastered

Quebec Blasts Anti-Catholic Acts By Peron

Argentina President Likened to Hitler

QUEBEC CITY (BUP) — An official organ of the Roman Catholic Church said today that President Juan Peron of Argentina "has signed his own death warrant" by imposing restrictive measures on the church.

L'Action Catholique made the comment in a front-page editorial published over the signature of editor Louis-Philippe Roy. The daily newspaper is sponsored by the Archbishop's palace and its religious views are generally regarded as those of the senior Roman Catholic See in Canada.

HOW HE CHANGED

The newspaper commented on the Argentina government's announcement that it has suspended religious education and teaching of morals in schools "for administrative reasons."

"How he has changed, this Peron who, in 1947, after a period of 60 years, re-established courses in public schools. How proud he was then to boast of his Catholicism and to flourish the flag of faith in order to strengthen his regime," the editorial said.

"Was he sincere at the time?" the newspaper asked. "If so, it means that he has become intoxicated with power, which has made him lose his head. Like Hitler, like Mussolini, he believes the day has come to make everyone submit to his authority, even the church."

"Like Hitler and Mussolini, Peron has signed his own death warrant. He has reached the stage where he thinks he is God's emissary, bigger than the bishops, bigger than the Pope.

"He is abusing his power by failing to respect the conscience of millions of Argentine Catholics."

POPE'S ARM STIFFENED BY ARTHRITIS

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) —The Pope is suffering from senile arthrosis in his right arm and will probably never be able to use it freely again, according to a doctor's diagnosis today.

The diagnosis was made by four doctors after X-ray pictures were taken of the 79-year-old Pope's right arm and shoulder Sunday night.

The X-ray plates were made after various ray treatments had failed to relieve sharp pain in the arm which the Pontiff uses for the act of blessing and proffering the papal ring for people to kiss.

Hungary Fires Malenkovite Premier Nagy

VIENNA, Austhia (UP) — Hungary's Communist party fired ailing Premier Imre Nagy today for the same reason that former Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov lost his job.

Nagy put the production of consumer goods ahead of heavy industries in a wholesale reform of Hungarian domestic policies when he took office back in July, 1953.

Andreas Hegedues succeeded Nagy as premier. He had played only a background role until his sudden rise today.

Western experts on Iron Curtain affairs said Nagy's fate was sealed when Malenkov resigned in Moscow with an admission of guilt as to his administrative duties.

His fate became even clearer last month when the central committee of the Communist party denounced him as a "demagogue" and a "rightist deviationist."

Rail Tie-Up Looms in U.K. On Election Eve

LONDON (AP) — Conservatives and Socialists mobiliezd today under the shadow of silent London newspapers and a threatened country-wide rail strike to fight it out in the general election May 26.

Politicians fired a few early shots in the election campaign, but attention centred on spreading labor unrest and how it might affect the vote.

The Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen called a walkout for May 1 to support demands for higher wages. A strike for higher pay that silenced London's 23 nationally-circulated newspapers was in its 25th day with no sign of a break. With the government's cost-of-living index at a record high level other wage claims were pending.

A walkout by engineers and firemen of the nationalized railways would paralyze the country's rail network at a time when its economy already is threatened by tumbling gold and dollar reserves.

The engineer's union, which has 79,642 members, is demanding a wage increase of eight shillings. Present average earnings are £9 15s weekly.

FRENCH REDS LOSE IN VOTE

PARIS (UP)—Government coalition parties won a commanding majority and the Communists lost popular strength in nation-wide local elections, incomplete returns showed today.

The Communists' popular vote fell from 23.5 to 21.2 per cent in Sunday's elections for department (province) general councils.

CBC Refuses Southams Control of CKNW

OTTAWA (BUP) — Application to transfer the control of station CKNW, New Westminster, B.C., to the Southam Company was denied today by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation board of governors on the ground that the firm already controls two other stations.

The Southam firm controls stations in Calgary and Edmonton, the board pointed out.

The board, which held hearings here last week, will recommend that licenses be granted for new TV stations at Lethbridge, Alta.; Wingham, Ont., and Charlottetown, P.E.I.

New radio stations are to be established at Lindsay, Ont., Smiths' Falls, Ont., and St. Jerome, Que.

RADIO STATIONS MUST STOP PIRATING SPORTS PROGRAMS

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation board of governors served notice today it would tighten its regulations on reconstructed sports broadcasts unless radio stations promised to quit pirating direct broadcasts from other stations.

Snow, Hail, Sooke Hills Don't Stop Army Cadets

First phase of "Operation Cougar,' training scheme of 119 Battery Army Cadet Corps, was completed successfully at the week-end in spite of snow and hail in the Sooke Hills—and the fact one party became lost.

Most of the exercise was filmed in color, and will be used to iron out mistakes in a second major scheme planned for next month.

Meanwhile, a small-scale training jaunt will be made in the Mount Douglas area in two or three weeks to perfect operations.

A group of 14 cadets under Lieut. Jim Napper held its ground atop a 1,700-foot hill, preventing an attacking party of 16 cadets under Dahn Batchelor from taking the position.

During the operation, an instructor and four cadets became separated from their main group, necessitating an emergency exercise in search and rescue by the remainder of the corps.

The stragglers found their way back to the main party by following a route along a riverbank in the ragged mountain sector north of Glinz Lake.

Menaced by Fire

REGINA (CP)—The entire village of Earl Grey, 50 miles north of here, was menaced by fire Sunday after a blaze broke out in a poolroom.

The village's 250 population organized a bucket brigade to fight rapidly spreading flames.

Destroyed were the poolroom, a grocery store and a two-story house.

HERBERT EVATT

Anti-Reds Split Labor In Australia

CANBERRA, Australia (Reuters) — Former prime minister Herbert Evatt resigned the leadership of the Australian Labor party today and was promptly re-elected to it in a show-down struggle against a rebellious right wing section.

A secret ballot vote resulted 52 to 27 in favor of Evatt at a party caucus.

The challenge to Evatt's leadership came after he alleged that the party was being subverted by right-wing influences related to the Catholic Action movement.

Today's dramatic resignation and party vote came a few hours after the announcement that a group of rebel Members of Parliament were forming a break-away party.

The splinter group, called the "Australian Labor party (anti-Communist)," will be headed by Robert Joshua, one of seven Labor Members of Parliament who rebelled against Evatt's leadership. The seven were expelled by the Victoria State Labor party with 97 other party members on April 7 as a result of the nation-wide split in the opposition party.

Evatt and his supporters, many of them Roman Catholics, alleged that a secret Catholic society referred to as "the movement" was attempting to control the party.

Bookies Sure Eden to Win May 26 Vote

LONDON (UP)—Britain's legalized bookmakers today made Prime Minister Anthony Eden's Conservative Party odds-on-favorite to win the British general elections he called for May 26.

The professional bettors who back their predictions with folding money threw open their books and offered to wager with all comers that the Tories will beat the Labor party in the polling.

It offered to take bets either way but quoted these prices:

The odds quoted for the first time this morning by the big betting firm of Douglas Stuart made the Conservatives red hot favorites.

1. If you want to bet on the Conservatives you have to put up four to win one.

2. If you want to bet on the Laborites two will get you five.

3,500 Lose Jobs As East Germans Hit Back at West

BERLIN (UP)—West Berlin officials accused the East German Communists today of firing West Berliners who work in the east. They called it a new Red effort to restrict contact between the East and West.

The West Berlin labor office said the Communists had fired 3,500 West sector residents from their jobs in the Soviet sector of the city this year and called it a political move because of the ratification of the Paris accords.

The labor office said the firings appeared to be part of the "security measures" the Communists threatened to take if the West approved the pacts to rearm West Germany.

Accident Aids Crews to Control Gas Well Blaze

EDMONTON (CP)—A small accident saved a big job for men who battled a wild gas well fire for five days in northern British Columbia.

Special fire-fighting equipment was being built at the well site, 70 miles northwest of Fort St. John, B.C., when gas pressure dropped by itself Sunday.

The drop in pressure was believed caused by a drill bit which broke off, choking most of the heavy flow of natural gas. Emergency crews had the well under control within a few hours.

Boy Survives 100-Foot Fall In B.C. Canyon

Vancouver Lad Severely Injured

(From BUP and CP))

VANCOUVER — William (Buddy) Harper, 14, is in critical condition in hospital here today, suffering from injuries received in a 100-foot fall down Lynn Canyon near Vancouver Saturday.

The boy's brother, Ken, aged 13, said they were about 20 feet from the top of the canyon when Buddy fell. Ken called the police who used ladders and long ropes to rescue the injured lad.

FOUR GASSED

Four persons narrowly missed death by asphyxiation here Sunday when they were overcome by domestic gas in their home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Barrett and their two children, Caroline, 13, and Douglas, nine, were found overcome by fumes. They were revived by a fire department inhalator crew and taken to hospital for further treatment.

TIKE'S TRIKE HITS CAR

A four-year-old boy who suffered a fractured hip while he was riding his tricycle was in good condition in St. Paul's Hospital. Richard Christopherson was taken to hospital Sunday afternoon after he was hit by a car on Thurlow Street. Police said the youngster rode out onto the road from a back alley into the path of the car.

Farmers Urge Early Action on Wheat Pact

WINNIPEG (CP)—An immediate conference of grain exporting and importing countries to discuss renewal of the International Wheat Agreement and the possibility of setting up a world grain bank to make surplus bread grains available to underdeveloped countries was urged today by the Interprovincial Farm Union Council.

The suggestions were included in a submission to the Canadian Wheat Board by a farm delegation headed by council chairman Jake Schulz of Winnipeg. The submission was made by vice-chairman J. L. Phelps of Saskatoon.

The council, which represents farm unions in Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and the Peace River district of British Columbia, urged the wheat board to take the initiative in negotiations for a new International Wheat Agreement. The present pact ends July 31, 1956.

Britons Hope Tuesday Budget Will Cut Taxes

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden summoned his cabinet to a special session today to hear one of the Conservative government's best kept secrets—the size and shape of Chancellor of the Exchequer Richard A. Butler's 1955-56 budget.

The rest of the country will get the news when Butler makes his budget speech in the House of Commons Tuesday.

Many Britons meanwhile guessed—and hoped—that Butler would trim the income tax.

The levy now starts at a 42½ per cent and ranges up to 97½ per cent on big incomes.

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF opened its own investigation Sunday into a fire which took the lives of two airmen at the Rockcliffe air station early Saturday and drove some 150 others half-clad from a big wooden barrack block.

The two victims have been identified as LAC Elgin Gerald Buchanan, 21, of North Vancouver, B.C., and LAC Joseph Jean Perron, 20, of St. Lavid de Chicoutimi, Que. Both were single.

Nine other airmen were taken to hospital suffering either smoke inhalation or minor injuries in jumping from second-story windows as the blaze blocked corridor escape routes.

Only two of them, LAC E. R. Andrews, 24, St. Leamington, Nfld., and LAC B. L. Rodwell, 32, Arnprior, Ont., were detained in hospital. Neither was in a serious condition.

The building was valued at some $75,000 and airmen lost personal effects unofficially valued at $35,000.

Budget Debate Main Topic As Commons Meets

Opposition Chiefs Slated to Speak

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons resumes its sessional work today, after a 12-day Easter recess, with all opposition groups polishing the comments they have on Finance Minister Harris' first budget.

Commoners have had 13 days to study and analyze the budget speech delivered April 5, and Tuesday they are expected to resume the budget debate.

Today the Commons will deal with some pieces of government legislation, including such items as the harbor commission of New Westminster, B.C.

Tuesday, J. M. Macdonell, the Progressive Conservative opposition's financial critic, will take up where he left off in adjourning the debate on budget night.

ANY SUBJECT PERMISSIBLE

Not all members' speeches will deal directly with the budget, which forecast a deficit of $160,000,000 in the current fiscal year. The budget debate allows members to speak on any subject they wish to bring up.

A number of CCF members from rural constitutencies in the prairies are expected to raise the question of farmers' lower incomes in 1954 and ask the establishment of farm parity prices.

Parity prices are designed to give farm products the same purchasing power as in the base period. The CCF has asked for parity prices based on 1925-29 prices equalling 100. On that basis, a bushel of No. 1 northern wheat would sell at about $2, compared with about $1.75 now.

CCF leader Coldwell and Social Credia leader Low are expected to follow Mr. Macdonnell in the budget debate, which may last at least 10 sitting days.

The Senate will resume its sittings May 3.

Hong Kong Trade Up

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong government has announced a "significant improvement" in the colony's trade during the first quarter of 1955. A total of 1,538,000 Hong Kong dollars' worth of trade was done from January to March — 171,500,000 more than in the same period of 1954. The Hong Kong dollars is worth 17.6 cents.

ROBIN WOOD

Wood Made Professor Of Academy

News has been received from London, England, this week, that Robin Wood, Victoria-born pianist and son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wood, Bewdley Avenue, has been appointed to a full professorship at London's famous Royal Academy of Music. He writes that the appointment brings with it several problems, principally the necessity of postponing a proposed Canadian tour this fall, which he was to have made with his wife, Winifred.

EDUCATED HERE

On their visit to Victoria two years ago, the couple was enthusiastically received when they gave a two-piano recital. Mr. Wood was also a guest artist with Victoria Symphony and gave a solo recital in aid of the Victoria College Library Fund.

Educated in Esquimalt schools, Mr. Wood was a piano student of Stanley Shale from the age of 10, until he won the scholarship which took him to London and the beginnings of a career which has never faltered in its upward trend, and which has seen him win many British and European musical honors.

Mainland Bread At 13 Cents On Sale in City

Vancouver Price War Felt Here

Cut-price Vancouver bread began to arrive in Victoria Saturday for sale in groceries and confectioneries in competition with locally-baked bread.

Lower price is a result of a bread price war now in progress in the mainland city.

It's made by Home Bakery, with headquarters in North Vancouver. The firm announced last December it intends to build a $100,000 bakery at Aldebury and Viewfield in Esquimalt this year.

Spokesman R. J. Casson said the plant would turn out 100,000 loaves a week when its comes into production.

Saturday's shipment consisted of 500 loaves, and by May 1 it is expected local outlets will be receiving 10,000-15,000 loaves a week.

They sell for 13 cents, compared with 15 cents for the standard 16-ounce loaf of major bakeries in Victoria.

Representatives of Victoria baking firms say they do not expect to become involved in a local bread price war.

The Arc of Power

THE EYES OF THE WORLD ARE on Formosa these days but Japan remains the real target of the power struggle in the north Pacific. For if Japan were lost to communism the whole arc of Western power off the shores of Asia would collapse.

Lately the United States Government seems to have realized that its policy in Japan, if not a failure, is certainly far from being a success. Obviously the State Department is alarmed by the refusal of Japan to accept the rearmament policy laid down for it in Washington, by the Japanese Government's eagerness for trade with Russia and China and by signs of anti-Americanism among the ordinary Japanese people.

The State Department, therefore, is evidently prepared to relax the pace of Japanese rearmament, but the Pentagon as usual is inclined to calculate Japan in military terms and insists that it must quickly increase its military expenditures. Out of this dispute between these two departments of the American Government a compromise policy may be expected to emerge.

The basic problem of Japan is poverty—a huge and growing population locked in a few small islands. The Government of Premier Hatoyama, while protesting its friendship for the United States, says it simply cannot support the defense budget laid down in Washington. This budget calls for an annual expenditure of $400 millions, or 14 per cent of the national budget, and those figures appear small to Americans who finance in billions. But to a Japanese economy which has difficulty even in feeding its people, a sum of that size is huge and onerous. The Hatoyama Government is a minority in the Diet, it must depend on other parties, and it says that in practical politics it cannot cut down on social services to increase defense services.

Moreover, the Japanese economy must soon provide large reparations to its wartime victims of Thailand and the Philippines. Recently the United States has reduced to a trickle its purchases of Japanese-made munitions and thus pushed the whole munitions industry toward imminent bankruptcy.

Small wonder, then, that the Japanese people are baffled by the necessary but sudden change in an American occupation policy which forbade Japan, by the MacArthur constitution, ever to arm again; and small wonder that they seem more interested in a tolerable life than in the struggle of the great powers.

Under these conditions the great flaw in American policy has appeared and apparently is realized by the State Department. It is, of course, that Japan has not been given an adequate chance to earn its living by the international trade on which it must live.

The American Government has treated Japan with unprecedented financial generosity after its wartime crimes. American power, and nothing else, has saved Japan from communist conquest. But American tariff policy has not yet recognized that Japan must trade or die and that if it cannot trade with the Western world it will trade with the communists and probably drift by stages into their orbit.

In other words, there is no economic foundation under the United States' military program in Japan. The result is a growing friction between Washington and Tokyo, now alarming the States Department. It will not be surprising if the United States is compelled to reduce the schedule of Japanese rearmament in favor of economic progress and in pursuit of Japanese confidence. For without a stable Japan, in full support of American policy, all Western strategy in the north Pacific, including Formosa, will lose its central bastion. And without a saner management of world trade, the West cannot count long on that bastion.

Canada Keeps Its River

WHEN THE CANADIAN GOVernment refused to alienate the water powers of the Yukon to the Aluminum Company of America, by a tunnel through the Alaska Panhandle, it was said that the great northern river must continue to flow, unused, to the sea.

Now the wisdom of the Government's waterpower policy—as supported by all political parties in Parliament except Social Credit—is being vindicated. An all-Canadian development of the Yukon is going forward, as the Government hoped.

The American aluminum interests believed that such a scheme was physically and financially impossible. They agreed that if Canada could harness the Yukon, within Canadian territory, it would be foolish to turn the river westward through the Panhandle for the benefit of an American industry. But, they said, there was no practical alternative because Canada possessed no seaport where the Yukon power could be used for industrial purposes.

The Frobisher-Ventures interests of Canada replied that they could dam the river, divert part of it into Taku Inlet, which cuts across the Panhandle, and build industries there, on Canadian territory. This plan was approved in Ottawa and now, according to The Financial Post, it is approaching actual construction.

"While there has been no tub-thumping with regard to the B.C. project," The Post reports, "steady progress has been made from an engineering standpoint and the undertaking never looked better from an economic standpoint." Next summer final engineering studies will determine the details of a large metallurgical enterprise on Taku inlet, designed to use cheap power in combination with Canadian and foreign ores from New Caledonia, the Phillippines and other distant places. The problem of financing this huge and complex project, The Post says, is being satisfactorily solved.

These plans may not produce as large an industry as the American interests planned on the Alaska coast but they will harness the Yukon primarily for the use of Canadians. We shall not export a capital resource which we can use ourselves and which we shall need to fuel our expanding Canadian economy.

That is the basic Canadian power policy, applied on the Yukon and on the Columbia—not to damage the interests of our good neighbors in any way but only to protect our own, as the Americans would do in the same circumstances. Not many Canadians will quarrel with that policy, especially when it pays off on the Yukon.

Part of the Pattern

THE RECENT PURGE OF ONE of China's top communist leaders, along with a number of his lieutenants, indicates that Mao Tse-tung's Red regime is basically the same as that of Russia. It must kill off all rivals before they become too powerful.

Kao Kang was the supervisor of the five-year plan, the boss of Manchuria (where he earned the nickname "the Manchurian Stalin"), and a likely successor to Mao. Apparently he over-reached himself. The published reason for his removal from office, and subsequent suicide, was the familiar "conspiring to seize leadership of the party and the state." This might well have been true. There are also suggestions that his failure to make a go of the five-year plan caused his dethronement. The jealousy of other party functionaries, alarmed by his success as they jostled for position in the heirarchy, is another rumored cause.

It is to be expected, if the Chinese purge follows the Soviet pattern, that the dismissals and persecutions will continue down the line. Kao's friends, aides and appointees no doubt will feel the weight of the governmental axe. But the effect outside of China will be negligible.

There is no basis for any belief that the Mao regime is undermined or seriously threatened from within. And still less justification for hopes that the Kao incident might have any bearing on Chiang Kai-shek's ambitions with respect to the mainland.

And Sic Transit, Too

"NOTHING HAS CHANGED IN England recently quite so much as the trade of men's hairdressing," says that observant English repatriate John Allan May.

Writing in The Christian Science Monitor, he describes the new stylings for men, the artists who create them, and adds a few tentative proposals of his own.

This tonsorial revolution sounds unhappily like the affectations of some North American teen-agers. Under more dignified names, Mr. May seems to define what were known here as the duck cut, and the boogie, though not the simple crew or the startling Mohawk.

Of course these are passing fads. More enduring is the noticeable local trend to the old Indian scout cut—a long-length styling backed by sound economics, and the inevitable monk or abbot's hair-do—a ruff around the shining dome, which owes its popularity to the laws of nature and leads frequently to the tidiest of all styles, the cueball.

Viennese Waltz

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

QUITE often one reads in print and hears in talk some reference to the ghastly old days of the Bottle Under the Table. Either a chap will say our present liquor laws are so fussy, we might as well be back in the baby-minded age of the Bottle Under the Table. Or else he will say our present laws may be absurd or insane or barbarous, but at least they are one degree better than the miserable era of the B.U.T.T. And everyone agrees that the nightmare age of the B.U.T.T. was full of unrelieved gloom, agony, shame, frustration, brutality, and the gnashing of teeth.

Brock

Permit me to disagree. I have a fairly good memory and I am not deaf or blind. "I may be a bit stupid but I'm still conscious." The laws that compelled bottles to repose under tables were undoubtedly silly laws and even frantic laws. Something like our present laws, they were the product of men who think they have a right to have conscientious scruples on somebody else's behalf. Such men are very annoying, and not on this one subject alone either. But in spite of all the nonsense of the B.U.T.T. days, people used to laugh once in a while. I saw them doing it. I even smiled a little myself.

EVERY time I hear something about the misery of those days I wonder who is crazy, the speaker or myself. The other day I sat down and wrote to a companion of my youth, now living in Montreal. I asked him if he didn't remember some redeeming feature or two of the bad old furtive days. He replied (in part): "Memoirs of misery? No, sir. I agree with you. It was often funny, and often fun, and somehow it tasted better . . . like stolen watermelon, only watermelon with a kick in it. I remember some of those days with real wistfulness. For example, drinking Chianti behind a billboard on Davie Street (in Vancouver). Beer in a woodyard on False Creek (also Vancouver), behind stacks and stacks of timber, and Paul singing 'Gaudeamus Igitur' . . . he would not, by the way, have been allowed to sing in a tavern either in that benighted age or this enlightened one . . . singing might go to a poor student's head, and is also an act of vagrancy. Whisky in a teapot at a restaurant on Pender Street, and somebody committed the dreadful social gaffe of pouring from a teapot into a demi-tasse.

"QUITE apart from teapots in restaurants and such, the laws of those days . . . laws and customs . . . drove us outdoors to a very healthy and enjoyable extent. The McGill student who, without a thought, picks up a can of beer at the corner store along with his cigarettes and pop, and knocks a hole in the tin and slurps it down in the front room of his fraternity house . . . he doesn't enjoy it as we once did on the sands of Point Grey, under the cliffs, whilst keeping an ear cocked for the motor-cops' siren.

"Half the enjoyment was the element of forbidden fruit (juice). And part of that element (if I may split an atom) was a comic side to it. We were not only laughing at the law, but at ourselves too. The law wasn't civilized but to a civilized man the comedy WAS civilized, somehow. To a bogus sophisticate the situation was intolerable. To a real sophisticate, as to a child of nature, it was great fun . . . extremes meeting, as always.

"EVEN now, in Montreal, the Forbidden Fruit-juice reaction still holds true. For example, yesterday three of us from the office had lunch in a small restaurant . . . French, and no license for beer or wine. (Two licenses here for restaurants: one for all liquors and the other for wine and beer only.) This place couldn't sell any. One of us, a Frenchman, was tired and dispirited and he said "I feel a small vin would help." We inquired. Ordinarily I don't touch anything at lunch, but that day, since we couldn't get any, I wanted a wine too. And by golly, they served some, in coffee cups, and although only an ordinary mild table-wine, it had the bouquet of an expensive type and we all praised it. Odd, to have a pleasant memory of a half-baked blind-pig restaurant, in Montreal of all places, but there it is. Had there been a wine list I am quite sure we would never have ordered any. Or had we, it wouldn't have been half so fine."

THE BROTHERS GRIMM

THERE'S another thing about current discussions of our liquor laws. I've heard many a chap say "Our present rules don't really follow the Stevens Report." All he means, maybe, is that even the complications and restrictions of the report would be better than what we've got. Yet his tone of voice, no doubt unintentionally, seems to imply that the Report is full of a rich mellowness. Now, I never read the whole document. But the bits I read didn't seem to have much of the old joie de vivre at all. In fact, they made me feel all restless and clammy. Do you remember the voice of the ghost of Hamlet's father in the Olivier film? I felt as if I were hearing that.

PARTIAL SOLUTION?

VIOLENCE IS NO SOLUTION TO ANYTHING, says a headline in a mainland paper. Really? What about swatting flies? Or what, for that matter, about putting your shoulder to the wheel? Or mixing salad dressing, or polishing boots? Passive resistance just won't do.

As Our Readers See It

'FOR THEY ARE JOLLY GOOD FELLOWS . . .'

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Wallace are unquestionably held in very high esteem by citizens everywhere, having served this Province effectively, modestly, and with singular distinction over a period of years.

Their relinquishment in September of the many exacting responsibilities of the high office at Government House will be widely regretted.

Apart from any private and service club "farewell" functions under consideration, it would seem fitting that a public assembly or banquet should be arranged by a leading local organization, possibly in co-operation with the City of Victoria, to permit representative officials and citizens of this Capital City, in particular, to pay proper tribute to His Honor and his charming wife before they return to Vancouver.

REWARDING EXPERIENCE

Listening to Cabinet Minister John Pickerskill was a rewarding experience, for here is a most Canadian "Canadian" in terms of tolerance, balance, and good humour.

He made no pretense to importance and shrugged off the Chairman's eulogy with lively disinterest. It was delightful to sense the absence of overtones as matters of moment to Canadians were treated seriously and realistically.

It was equally satisfying to recognize an objective fairness in Mr. Pickerskill's allusions to political opposition. This latter trait is most outstanding in our Federal member Dr. F. T. Fairey whose integrity of comment embodied a sincerity to which no one could take exception, as he presented a report of his work in Ottawa thus far.

The flexibility these two Canadian Parliamentarians revealed, augurs well for Canada's future.

ANTI-AMERICAN

Psychological kite-flying in the political field is as old as the hills, when any counrty, or its hierarchy, has felt in an acquisitive mood. An exhibition has lately been staged by a member of the United States Congress, who appears to be blissfully oblivious to any such word in the dictionary as "nationality."

It is understandable that the United States must feel flushed with victory since they are now in possession—or control—of practically all the little and big countries of the so-called "free" world by economic chains, forged together by military occupying forces.

Since now that a feeling has again been expressed that Canada also should submerge her identity in the interest of Uncle Sam—or "big brother"—it cannot be untimely to ask just exactly what does the United States aspire to gain. Is it the control or domination of the potential wealth of half the earth in competition with her great rival, Russia? We know that the United States alone does not constitute America, but undoubtedly the long quest for sovereignty over Canada could help to regain a lot of the United States lost prestige abroad.

Of course the fairy tale of the undefended border was exploded long long ago, when "finance" itself took over, and has—and has had—the power to put Canada's economy in the stocks at any time the whimsy tickled the vested interests of the United States. We have already fought two world wars "against" domination and greed, is it possible that there are still nations who never learn?

NO PADRES?

The editorial ("Times" March 28) "Sour Notes from the Sounding Brasses" is rather interesting. It speaks of the breakdown of life-long beliefs—very personalities—through brain-washing of U.S. soldiers and a few civilians in Korea and then reconstruction psychologically in the mold favored by the captors.

It says further "many prisoners were naturally too strong-willed to succumb to their captors' influence". And it goes on to say "that men with a strong religious conviction were able to withstand their oppressors much better than those without it"; and, at the very end, the editorial says that "in devising that defense the padre as well as the technician may well play a part."

Those of us who don't believe in organized religion as we see it around us—in superstition, as we call this—have this conviction because we are "too strong-willed" to submit to the indoctrination of the church hierarchy, since we believe that said hierarchy tries such indoctrination for its own pernicious purposes—abetted thereon by a host of people, who seek advantage for themselves—a process, very similar to that which the communists use, with this difference that the church camouflages its purpose to force its victims to submission to their doctrines, and softens the methods, though the result is as injurious as the communists' brain-washing, since it destroys their victims' "very personalities".

And so, we doubt very much that the editorial's say-so at the end is based on fact and are absolutely against giving the "padres" more say in a soldier's defense preparation. It is bad enough as it is!

POOR 'SKINFLINTS'

A letter in the Victoria Times of April 8, with the title "Why Skinflint Label" asked "why should the Mayor and City Council be made to feel like skinflints because they will not hand over the city money to the Arts Centre and the Symphony Orchestra?" Whoever said it was correct, but why did he not sign a name? If we have an argument and it is for the benefit for the masses and taxpayers, we should sign our names.

He goes on to say: "The charming people who live in the low tax areas of Elk Lake and Ten Mile Point pour tea at the Arts Centre and dance at the Symphony ball, and why don't they harass their own councils as they do Victoria city council?" I agree with him, particularily the Symphony 100 per cent because the majority of the people who go to it, including officials, have plenty of money and good salaries, therefore they should foot the bill.

To my mind there must be some bad management somewhere, so the symphony can't pay its debts. If it can't pay, then it should be cancelled at once. I am very much inclined to think that the reason food and everything is so expensive in Victoria, is because many people never pay off their debts each month as they should. As a consequence we other poor ones who pay as we go, and do without what we can't have, but, oftimes what we should, have to foot these bills.

May I also say, many of us who struggle, dont drink and smoke or do many of the things these people do.

People should be proud of a Mayor and council who do their best to look after the majority and the taxpayers' money.

SCHOOLS—WHAT FOR?

Again the taxpayers of Saanich are to be asked to approve a huge expenditure for schools in the district. It is important that they should know all the facts relating to the business in which they are engaged before approving expansion that may force them into bankruptcy, financial and moral.

Without the assurance of the Minister of Education and his appointed school inspectors (whose reports are accepted as a guide to school boards in their selection of applicants) that distillers representatives and agents of adoption racketeers, or demonstrators for electrical companies in domestic science showrooms, are not masquerading as "teachers" in our public school system, the taxpayers of Saanich and other districts in the province will be wise to refuse any further expenditure on what is falsely termed "higher education." In fact they might justly demand exemption from present taxation for the upkeep of a service they cannot approve or commend.

WHAT ARE WE WAITING FOR?

Re Chief Mulligan's suggestion of segregating Canada's 3,000 drug addicts in a self-contained colony.

The obvious advantage of this suggestion is that isolation—preferably on an island—would prevent drugs being smuggled in by visitors, also contact with soil and animal life would aid in healing body, mind and spirit.

Why, as a young country, cannot Canada accept England's solution of this most difficult problem? Namely, Remove the profit motive and the drug menace will cease of its own accord.

I quote from a news item of Sept. 8, 1952, from The British Home Office which states that . . . "there are only 306 registered addicts in all this country with its teeming 50 millions."

Drug conditions here and in England are similar. England has many ports. Ships from the Orient—considered a leading source of drugs—dock at the Port of London.

England then has evidently "licked" this most costly and menacing of all problems.

In comparison with the foregoing, with a population of only 344,488—'51 census—it is estimated Vancouver has between 1,400 and 2,000 addicts, increasing at the rate of 10 per month.

The Community Chest did a good job in 1953 in exploring the matter, what then are we waiting for and why the delay?

EARLIER RELIGIONS

Your "Liberal" reader chides W. A. Scott, stating that the latter's philosophy is not very enlightening. So now for a little enlightenment.

Many gullible millions believe that the biblical Jesus was the one and only Christ, and that the so-called Christian religion is the only true one. This is particularly true of the Church of Rome which claims to possess the only access to the true God.

The Hebrew word "Messiah" becomes Christ in the Greek, and "Jesus" is a Greek corruption of the Hebrew Jesua, later called Joshua. The words Jesus and Christ are not personal names, actually.

The history of the numerous virgin-born, crucified Christs who were worshiped as gods and saviors hundreds of years before Jesus the Christ was ever conceived, should enlighten Christians of the fact that their religion was largely "lifted" from several of these former gods.

There is really more historical information available today on these many other Christs, than has ever been available to attest the existence of Jesus apart from the so-called Holy Bible, the historical value of which has been always questioned by many scholars.

I trust your indulgence for space to list a few of these earlier Christs as follows: Chrishna of India 1200 B.C.; Thulis of Egypt 1700 B.C.; Thammuz of Syria 1160 B.C.; Critic of Chaldea 1200 B.C.; Hesus of the Celtic Druids 835 B.C.; Buddha Sakai 600 B.C.; Quirinus of Rome 506 B.C.; Bali of Orissa 726 B.C.; Mithras of Persia 600 B.C.; Prometheus (Aeschylus) 547 B.C. and others of Thibet, Nepaul etc.

Overheard in April

"No matter that my pace is slow",
Said the patient root that toils below;—
"I labour on with eager zest
To draw the sap from earth's rich breast."

"My face is rough and seamed and dark,"
Said the leafless tree,—"my limbs are stark;
But O in the hidden heart of me
The sap runs fast and merrily."
"Children," called Nature, "We'll have a bee
And clothe with beauty the naked tree."

Sap and colour-cells, air and light,
At once their secret powers unite
To make the tree a fragrant bower,
Glad in full leafage, bud and flower;
A home for small and helpless things,—
Gift that the root each April brings.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

You Have To Do It

LONDON—An interesting case has cropped up in connection with a man suspected of trying to steal an automobile. A policeman observed him apparently tampering with the car. But when taken intoo custody, this was his explanation:

He suffered from a nervous disorder which compelled him to do certain things. For instance, when he crossed a street he had to step onto the sidewalk with his left foot, never his right, otherwise something terrible would happen too him. He had passed this parked car and had felt a compulsion to touch it. He had gone back to do so, and the policeman had spotted him at it. Fortunately for him he got an understanding hearing and it was not regarded as a far-fetched excuse to avoid the rap.

Reyburn

This matter of nervous compulsion — a feeling of impending doom if you don't perform some action—is not uncommon. Dr. Johnson, for instance, was a lamp-post patter. He felt compelled to tap every lamp-post he passed and if he missed one it would weigh on his mind until eventually he would retrace his steps many blocks to make good the omission.

Graham Greene, the author, cannot bear to have, in his typewriter when he is working, a piece of paper that is not perfectly clean and smooth. Even if he is getting to the end of a page and finds on the paper some smear or imperfection, he'll discard what he's done and start again on a fresh sheet. I have a friend who must always tap a light switch three times when he turns the light on or off.

It's nerves, of course, and you'll notice it especially among sports people. Not so much in games such as football and hockey where they can lose themselves in the activity of the team, but in games like golf, tennis, baseball and cricket where one player is on the spot and the onus of having to succeed or fail is on him.

All cricketers have their nervous "twitches" and it's a popular pastime picking out the idiosyncrasy of each. England's new fast bowler, Frank Tysoon, can never decide with which foot to start his run up to the wicket and by the end of the day has worn a hole with his spikes, making up his mind. England captain Len Hutton has the compulsion to touch his cap before each stroke. A South African named, appropriately enough, "Toey" Tayfield, touches the ground with his toe three times as he faces each new ball from the bowler.

Most involved of them all is a Pakistan batsman named Hanif. Before each stroke he crosses himself devoutly.

All cricketers have one nervous worry in common—they all cannot bat at their ease when the score is 111.

In the public house trade in England, barmen have a similar feeling of impending doom if a customer proffers a five-shilling piece and they'll refuse to take them. Theatre people feel they've had it if someone whistles backstage. Clothing salesmen scurry for cover if a parson is the first to enter the shop at the beginning of the day. But I'm glad to say that I can't think of any such foolish quirks that we newspapermen have.

That's all for now. I must go. There's a crack in the sidewalk over on Finchley Road that I forgot to step on this morning.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

How to Have Perfect Teeth

Dr. Alvarez Is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

A while ago, in a column on dentifrices, I said something which wasn't quite true. Thinking only of tooth-brushing, I said that this would not clean between the teeth, where so many of the bad cavities start. Of course, what I should have said is that the wise person cleans between his teeth with dental floss. Older persons who have pyorrhea pockets alongside of some of their teeth will every night clean out these pockets and massage them a bit with a pointed piece of soft wood or a sort of tiny teat, made of rubber or plastic. These can be obtained in drug stores.

Alvarez

The wise parent of children will not be constantly giving them sweets or sweet drinks, because it has been well proved that sugar tends to produce cavities.

Years ago, a wise dentist named Price, went around the world looking for peoples who had perfect teeth. Curiously, he found such teeth generally in the mouths of savages or primitive peoples. The best teeth in the world were in the mouths of people on the little island of Tristan d'Acuna. This is the top of an old volcano that sticks out of the Atlantic, about half-way between South America and Africa. It was particularly interesting to find such perfect teeth among these people, because in the old days their food was so limited. Only rarely did a ship from England drop by to leave them some flour and other civilized food. Since nothing green could be grown on the barren rock, the people lived largely on fish and bird's eggs. Their children never saw a glass of orange juice, or milk, and they had never heard of a vitamin or a tooth brush!

SAME ALL OVER WORLD

The next-best teeth that Price found were in the mouths of the primitive Eskimos, who also had never heard of an orange, a cow, a vitamin pill, a salad or a dish of spinach. What did they eat? They lived largely on fish, and on the meat and fat of seals and of caribou. They ate some wild birds, and in the summer, some berries.

The important point was doubtless that they ate the insides of animals, such as the liver and kidneys and intestines, and they ate much of their food raw.

Very interesting to me was the fact that all over the world, Price found that whenever savages with their perfect teeth started eating the white man's food, with starches and sugar, they promptly developed a lot of cavities, and sometimes, within a few years, had nothing but snags left in their mouth.

Archaeologists tell us that in ancient times, some 3,000 years before Christ, the first people to have tooth decay were the Egyptians and the Mesopotamians. They got in trouble as soon as they stopped eating only meat and milk and fish and began to eat bread.

When I was a boy in Hawaii, I noted that the old Hawaiians and the Japanese immigrants usually had splendid teeth. I suspect this was because they ate much fish and ate it raw. The Japanese used to eat hand-fulls of tiny fish, smaller than a little finger. As I remember, these fish were dried and then eaten whole and uncooked, with some soy sauce.

It seems obvious that when we cook our foods, we lose some substance which gives primitive people good teeth and jaws big enough to hold them. Unfortunately, our people are not going to change their eating habits, and so, for a while, we will have to pay big dentist's bills. I, myself, cannot bring myself to eat raw inner organs of animals and fish, although I feel sure I should.

ERYTHEMA NODOSUM

People ask me what is the cause of erythema nodosum. This is the name for flat, slightly-raised nodules, perhaps an inch or two in diameter, found usually on the shins.

When I was a young physician I was told that these were due to rheumatic fever, and in some cases this was the apparent cause. However, a few years ago, an extensive study showed that the commonest cause was a smouldering tuberculosis. But this should not get people who have these lumps too greatly worried because, in hundreds of cases, no one seems to be able to find out exactly what the cause is, and the patients do not come to any bad end. A while ago I read that the nodules may be due even to the taking of some drug, such as aspirin. Whatever they are due to, they are not likely to kill anyone. I don't know of any good treatment for them, and, fortunately, in most cases, after a time the nodules go away.

Membership in the academy is limited to 70 persons, many of whom are non-Catholics.

CD Could Save Many Lives In Disasters Says Martin

MONTREAL (BUP) — More than 5,000 persons died in fires, floods, explosions and other disasters in Canada since 1900, Health Minister Paul Martin said today.

"A number of disaster experiences in recent years have demonstrated conclusively that communities with well-organized civil defense services are able to cope with the demands of the situation much more effectively than those where civil defense organizations are deficient or ficient or non-existent," he said. "If adequate organized disaster plans had been in existence in the communities affected, undoubtedly many lives could have been saved and much property damage averted."

He delivered the opening address at Quebec's first French-speaking hospital disaster institute at Notre Dame Hospital.

Prominent author Rupert Hughes talks from personal experience...

"How you can be young in thought and action about your hearing loss"

"If you need a hearing aid, I hope you are not hesitating because you have the mistaken notion that it might make you look older.

"Actually, a hearing aid will help you to look, act and feel years younger.

"If that seems surprising, have you seen yourself—as others do—with your face showing the strain as you try desperately to hear? Have you noticed yourself losing confidence and enthusiasm? . . . withdrawing deeper into a hollow shell of suspicion and loneliness?

"All this is the tragic result of not being able to hear properly. It places a burden on family and friends, robs you of happiness and opportunities, makes you old before your time.

"Don't let it happen to you!

"Years ago, I brightened my life with a Zenith Hearing Aid, and I have been thankful ever since. If you want to be good to yourself, modern and progressive, I urge you to do the same."

. . . . .

We are grateful to Mr. Hughes for granting us permission to place his important message before Canada's hard of hearing.

Mr. Hughes is one of a distinguished group of authors, statesmen, scientists, executives and millionaires who can afford to pay any price for a hearing aid but wear the $75 Zenith.

Some people who do not know the astonishing facts about hearing aid prices and quality are surprised when they learn of Zenith's widespread acceptance by those who always buy the finest. They find it incredible that Zenith Aids, selling for $75, $100 and $125, are unsurpassed by others priced at $250 to $300 and more.

Indeed it does seem incredible! Yet the answer is simple:

All makes of hearing aids cost about the same to manufacture. Highest quality Zenith instruments do not sell for $250 to $300—as do many others—because they do not include a high profit mark-up for so-called "selling expenses."

You cannot buy a better hearing aid than a Zenith at any price. Anyone who tells you differently is misinformed, or may have an interest in your purchase of a more expensive make.

Zenith's superb line of 5 tubeless, transistor models offers 432 individual power-tone response modifications. Get the one best suited to your hearing loss—no extra charge, no hidden "fitting" costs!

We invite you to try a Zenith Hearing Aid on our 10-day Money-Back Guarantee. Use it at home, work, church, anywhere—you must be satisfied! Full-Year Warranty. Five-Year Service Plan. Easy Time Payments. Stock earmold provided; custom earmold or bone conduction device at small added cost. Your Zenith Hearing Aid Dealer is listed in the classified telephone directory. Ever watched a battalion of ants in action?

Smart.

They'll spend hours slicing up whatever happens to be handy and edible for storage in the freezer.

HOME GARDEN By HILDA BEASTALL

Rock, Alpine Garden Show Big Event for This Week

The tempo of the gardener's calendar is increasing regardless of the general opinion that spring is slow.

This week the outstanding event for us gardeners will be the annual show of the Vancouver Island Rock and Alpine Garden Society. For those with either rock or alpine gardens, it has become a necessary pleasure to discover each year something new for their collection of treasures.

Hilda

For those with perennial beds and borders a visit to the show can be just as profitable. Dozens of alpine plants may be grown successfully in such locations, provided they are well-drained.

VISITS PLANNED

Next week there are visits to outstanding Victoria gardens scheduled during Garden Festival Week, also an annual event.

It is a time when those of us who live and work here may well reap a reward in smug satisfaction that is too favored a spot. Viewing the beauty of other people's gardens is second only to the gratification experienced in producing beauty in one's own.

Ideas in material and layout may be gathered for future use, and altogether the four days of garden visits may indeed open up wider horizons for the home gardener.

The owners of the gardens should be complimented on their spirit of good citizenship in offering to share their private hobby with visitors during the festival.

The final event of the month is the first of the smaller local flower shows. On the last day of April, the tenth annual Cadboro Bay Flower Show will be held. The importance of such shows to home gardeners cannot be over-estimated.

CCF WILL PROBE BOX 16 TO DIG OUT TROTSKYITES

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The newly-elected executive of the British Columbia CCF party announced today it would investigate a so-called "Trotskyite" anti-CCF publication which has caused bitter internal party strife in the west coast province.

Delegates to the party's annual convention here have asked the executive to discover the writer who sends the circular known as "Box 16" to CCF members.

The executive has charged that the same people who are responsible for the program are behind a Trotskyite plot.

POWELL RIVER (CP)—The Powell River Co. has released terms, together with sale prices, of houses on their townsite in anticipation of the district incorporation. The offers are conditional on incorporation taking place.

Each tenant has received a personal letter from vice-president J. A. Kyles, telling of the conditions of sale and giving the assessed value of the house.

June 30 has been set as the deadline for advising the company whether the tenant desires to purchase his home under the present offer.

If he declines, he will be allowed until Sept. 30, 1956, to find other accommodation.

Subsidies Pleaded for Symphonies

WINNIPEG (CP)—A Winnipeg lawyer says symphony orchestras will never be sound business ventures and they need federal subsidies to operate successfully.

S. J. Drache made the comment in an address to the Western Canadian Regional Symphony Orchestra Conference on Saturday.

He said the Winnipeg symphony had come to the end of the road of voluntary help. It had a deficit last season of about $26,000 and would need at least $50,000 more a year to become a full-time civic enterprise.

Young's Suspension Upheld by CCF Party

Action Against Leftist Elements in B.C. Backed by Delegates; McKenzie Re-Elected

VANCOUVER (CP) — The CCF ended its annual British Columbia-Yukon convention here Sunday with a pledge to "close ranks" after approving stern disciplinary action taken by the executive against extreme leftist elements.

The three-day gathering of 160 delegates closed with a clear-cut victory for the moderates of the party.

Frank McKenize, 44-year-old Vancouver lawyer, re-elected as president, said: "I believe we have decided to close our ranks."

An executive report which placed blame for the party's drop in membership and loss of the 1952 B.C. election on "Trotskyists" was approved by the convention.

EXECUTIVE SUPPORTED

A five-hour discussion behind closed doors resulted in ratification of the executive's handling of maverick Rodney Young and the rebel North Vancouver party organization.

Young, former CCF member of Parliament, was suspended from the party last year after stating publicly that he was "proud to be called a Communist." He has resigned.

When the North Vancouver group defied the ban, 23 members were suspended for two months. Their appeal was rejected by the convention.

Two members of the executive opposed endorsation of the executive report.

David Stupich of Nanaimo, defeated by McKenzie for president, charged that the executive was using the "Trotskyist" issue to cover up its own weaknesses. The other minority report was turned in by former president Joe Corsbie.

The convention dealt with a wide range of resolutions and adopted a provincial report outlining CCF policy on forest management in B.C.

The report called for an end to the system of issuing forest management licenses in perpetuity.

Time ran out before delegates could deal with a great many resolutions, including several dealings with the Young-North Vancouver controversy.

One of the resolutions adopted said, "War is an inseparable and inevitable part of the capitalist system." It called on the CCF to "proclaim there can be no final escape from the agonies of war until capitalism as a system is eliminated, and a socialist society developed . . . All else is illusion."

Several delegates spoke against regional defense treaties such as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization when discussing a motion that it be made mandatory for members of Parliament and legislatures to oppose "military alliances and the arming of nations for the implementing of such alliances."

NO VOTE TAKEN

The convention did not have time to vote on the motion. The international affairs committee recommended against acceptance of the motion.

On unemployment, the convention stated a CCF government would take these steps:

Essential public works to provide jobs; encouragement of construction of low-rent housing projects and home ownership; promotion of labor-management and government committees to consider long-range possibilities for the elimination of seasonal unemployment; provision of a shorter work week than the present maximum of 44 hours; sponsorship of new secondary industries to replace workers now being replaced by machines; establishment of a continuing policy of unemployment payments.

The convention also went on record as supporting trade unions in their fight for a guaranteed annual wage.

Pickersgill Says Baby Row 'Very Silly'

WINNIPEG (CP) — Immigration Minister Pickersgill stepped off a train here and said the whole thing was all "very silly."

The Canadian-born minister was referring to the reaction to his "baby versus immigrant" statement in Victoria last week.

In an interview at the CPR station here Saturday during a short stopover, Mr. Pickersgill said he wouldn't go as far as to say he was misquoted. He just wasn't quoted fully.

Mr. Pickersgill was reported as saying at Victoria that the best way to increase Canada's population is "by the cradle."

"I don't belive any immigrant . . . no matter where he comes from, or how good he is . . . is as good as another Canadian baby," he said.

Then the minister explained that if one considered his whole statement, one saw the thing in its proper perspective.

"What I really said was that we wanted to increase the population of the country. For that purpose, if they were equally good people, I didn't believe any immigrant, no mater how good he was or where he came from, was as good as another Canadian baby because we brought people to this country to become Canadian—and the babies were Canadians to start with."

Canadian Champs—Alberni Style

All Alberni Salutes A's For Dominion Cage Victory

By BILL RAYNER

ALBERNI—Alberni, B.C., is on the map.

Along with its twin city of Port Alberni and the rest of the valley nestled at the end of a snug inlet on Vancouver Island's west coast, Alberni leaped cheerfully into national prominence Saturday night as its very own Athletics won the Canadian senior men's basketball championship in straight games.

The A's swarmed all over the Sault Ste. Marie Gunners, 91-64, in the third game of the best-of-five series to win Alberni's first dominion title in history and the sixth for Vancouver Island.

The over 1,200 fans that again tucked themselves into Alberni Athletic Hall were confident at the start of the evening bill of fare that it was all over but the shouting. And as the pattern of victory again became apparent early in the first half, the shouting began. It is still going on today in some parts of the valley.

As the second half started with the A's sporting a 19-point bulge over the Gunners, the fans began a sustained roar that became louder and louder as the minutes separating them from a Canadian title ticked off.

Players Mobbed at Final Whistle

The cheering reached a thunderous climax as veteran Joe Buchanan, senior member of the club, scored the final basket in the last minute of the game. Pandemonium broke loose seconds later as the final buzzer sounded. Hysterical fans swarmed on to the floor to mob coach Elmer Speidel and his players and the slim, brilliant basketball player was raised aloft by his team and carried to the centre of the court as the strains of "For He's a Jolly C Fellow" rocked the old Athletic Hall.

Joe Polley, representing the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association, presented the Montreal sportsmen's trophy, emblematic of the Canadian championship, to Speidel amid wild confusion as fans milled about the floor and brilliant floodlamps lit for the benefit of TV and newsreel cameramen, bathed the scene.

When presented the trophy, Speidel stated simply that the cup belonged "to the whole valley, not only the team." Manager Fred Bishop also spoke, praising the fans for making the eight-year-old championship dream come true.

Snake Dance, Horn-Honking Parade

Then the celebration began in earnest. Fans organized a huge snake-dance that wound around the hall and out into the street as a line-up of cars started a wild, horn-honking parade that ended in Port Alberni.

Both teams were honored at a reception in an Alberni hotel after escaping from the fans, and a lavish, free dance was staged in the Athletic Hall. Hundreds of house parties then toasted the victory on through the night and into Sunday.

The man to whom the glasses were raised most was, of course, Elmer Speidel. That personable young man solved the almost non-existent Soo defense for 26 points Saturday night for a series total of 78. He was matched this time by Jumping Joe Samarin, who was up and down like a yo-yo all evening, controlling both backboards with alacrity and shovelling in 26 points.

Ray Siltanen was the sharpest of a dull crew of Gunners, his one-handed shots accounting for 15 points. Lou Lukenda and Damon Godfrey, the set-shot wizard, toiled for 11 points apiece.

The Gunners hung on for the first four minutes of the game, then bowed to the inevitable. At that time they led 8-7, when Speidel made good with a lay-up to send the A's on their way. Ten minutes later the score was 37-22, and at the intermission the A's descended to the dressing-room with a 47-28 lead.

The Gunners were at their best of the series for the final game, but were still hopelessly outclassed. Their passes started to find receivers and their shots were less hurried, but they never found themselves in any danger of pulling an upset.

Speidel cleared his bench in the waning minutes of play after Doug Brinham and Al Brown left the proceedings via the personal foul route. Johnny Groholski was the only player not getting in on the scoring act.

Sault Ste. Marie—Forster 8, Lukenda 11, Harris 5, Deitz 4, Sultanen 15, Kahle 10, Wortman, Godfrey 11, Peterson, Shepherd. Total 64.

Alberni—Speidel 26, Bissett 14, Brinham 7, Samarin 26, Brown 6, Groholski, Kootnekoff 6, Buchanan 2, Kermode 2, Veitch 2. Total 91.

Wall, the leader through each of the first three rounds, was even with Snead when they came to the last hole needing birdies to beat Boros who had finished a short time earlier.

Three Colwood Players Gain Times' Golf Semis

Morrison Beats Kerr; Lineham Wins

By BILL WALKER

Bill Court meets Hugh Morrison and Harold Lineham meets Bill McColl in the semifinals of the Times Island Match Play Open Golf Championships.

Matches will be played over 36 holes at Victoria Golf Club Sunday, with Morrison the only home course player of the quartet, the others being from Royal Colwood where the finals are scheduled May 1.

This was the result of still more surprises at Uplands Golf Club Sunday in the quarter-final round of the tourney that saw all past champions eliminated in the first round.

Morrison's triumph over Kerr was in the nature of a mild upset although not totally unexpected, Morrison winning 2 and 1, in a match of which he commented: "If we both had been putting better, it would have been more interesting for the people."

Court took his match from Gordie Whan of Duncan with relative ease, winning 4 and 2, after being two up at the turn.

Lineham, the "old man" of the tournament at 53 years of age, continued his sub-par play to dispose of 23-year-old Johnny Merriman of Gorge Vale, 3 and 1, while McColl had to come from behind to take the measure of Bob Herbertson of Gorge Vale with successive birdies on the 18th and 19th in the only extra-hole match of the day.

For three of the semifinalists it was the first time they had advanced this far in the tournament, Morrison last year going to the finals before losing to Uplands' Eric Hibberson.

Birdies Help

All square at the end of the sixth hole in his match with Kerr, Morrison took the lead with a pair of birdies on seven and eight, and then sank a long putt on nine for a half when it seemed he might lose his advantage. Kerr won the 11th; the 12th was halved in fours, the 13th in fours when Morrison missed a short putt, and the 14th in fives when both Morrison and Kerr missed putts of under four feet in length.

Morrison birdied 15 to again go two up, but Kerr won 16 when Morrison three putted. A birdie three on 17 ended the match in favor of Morrison.

Court was never behind in his match with Whan, going two up at the end of four holes. Whan birdied the fifth to cut the deficit but Court took the eighth in par four, the 10th with a birdie three and the 12th with a four to Whan's five to go four up. Whan won 13 in par four but then saw all hope of a comeback disappear on 14 when Court dropped a 20-foot putt for a half. Court ended it on 16 with a par three.

Harold Hot

Lineham and Merriman engaged in a tight match that was all square at the turn. Lineham took the lead on the 10th and maintained his one-hole margin through to the 16th, when Merriman three putted and Lineham recovered neatly to get a par three.

On the 17th Merriman chipped to within three feet of the cup with his second but Lineham, from the same distance, hit a wedge shot to within two feet of the hole. When Merriman missed his putt for a birdie he conceded.

Lineham was one under par for the round, completing the 18 holes in 38-31—69. He was four under from the sixth hole on.

McColl took an early lead in his match with Herbertson but then was hard put to hold off a determined challenge of the Gorge Vale youngster.

Two up at the turn, McColl lost the 11th when he three-putted, lost the 13th to a birdie three and then went one down when Herbertson birdied the 15th.

Dramatic Finish

McColl won the 16th in par to square the match once more, but was out of bounds with his tee shot on 17 to be dormie coming home. Herbertson's second shot on 18 was off to the right under the trees while McColl was eight feet from the pin, Herbertson conceding McColl a birdie three.

McColl then ended the match in dramatic fashion on the 19th with an 18-foot putt for a birdie three.

It's All Mine

"The Spider" himself, Elmer Speidel, takes a firm grip on the Montreal Sportsmen's Trophy, emblematic of the Canadian senior basketball championship, after it was presented to him by Joe Polley of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association. Elmer personallly led his Athletics to victory, scoring 78 points in the three-game sweep over the Sault Ste. Marie Gunners. (Flett Studio Photo.)

Nancy Craig Captures West Paddle Title

Victoria's Nancy Craig and Gerry Addy of Vancouver swept to victory in the singles events Saturday night in the western Canada open table tennis championships at the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club.

Mrs. Craig disposed of Miss Chris Erikson of Seattle, in straight sets, 21-13, 21-18, 21-14, to retain her seventh western Canada title.

It took Addy five sets and one and one-half hours to defeat Pacific northwest champion Warren Pinard of Vancouver, Wash., for the men's singles crown. Addy won the first set, 21-18, then fell behind in the next two, losing by 21-11 and 21-19 before coming back wtih 21-9 and 21-16 victories.

DOUBLE CHAMPS

Victoria's Art and Ed Ngai also went to a hard-fought five sets before retaining the men's doubles championship over Carl Cole and Bob Hage of Portland. Scores were 14-21, 21-18, 21-12, 21-23 and 21-19.

Ed Ngai also took the A singles title with scores of 21-16, 21-8, 21-17 over Keith Olson of Victoria.

Another Victorian, Laurie Greenwood, won the senior singles crown with a 21-8, 21-11, 23-21 victory over Alf Holmwood of Victoria.

Bosox Don't Miss Ted; Hurdle Into AL Lead

By The Associated Press

Ted Williams was still some 2,000 miles away from Fenway Park today, but could it be that Boston Red Sox have been using the power-laden bats he left behind?

The end of the first week of the infant baseball season finds Red Sox not only leading the American League with five victories in six games, but also on top with an astonishing .330 team batting average and 11 home runs.

Red Sox Sunday pounded eight Baltimore pitchers for 30 hits, sweeping a doubleheader from the Orioles 14-5 and 12-9 to leap past Cleveland and New York and grab a full-game lead on the field.

GOING GREAT

Faye Throneberry, the 23-year-old who is filling in for Williams in left field, has done the most toward easing the big guy's absence. The sophomore, clubbing at a torrid .400, is tied for the league lead with 12 runs batted in. His 10 hits include four doubles and three home runs. He rapped four hits Sunday, including a double and home run.

Boston shared Sunday's spot light with Brooklyn Dodgers, who remained unbeaten by sweeping a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 10-3 and 3-2. Johnny Podres and Clem Labine pitched the fifth and sixth victories for Dodgers, who now are only three behind the modern record of nine consecutive victories at the start of the season.

Philadelphia's Phillies stunned Giants with a pair of 4-2 victories to drop New York into a sixth-place tie with Cinnati. Giants, who didn't lose a doubleheader all last year, now have won only one game against five defeats.

14-1 RUNAWAY

A 10-run first inning started St. Louis off to a 14-1 runaway over Chicago after Cubs had nipped Cards 6-5 in the opener with two runs in the ninth. Cardinal outfielder Harry Elliott got seven hits in the twin bill.

Cincinnati also pulled out a ninth inning 6-5 victory to gain a split with Milwaukee after Braves had run off with the opener 10-1. It was the Reds' first victory after five straight defeats.

Cleveland and Chicago split a doubleheader, Indians winning 4-2 behind Bob Lemon's five-hitter after southpaw Jack Harshman had pitched White Sox to a 3-1 triumph in the opener. Johnny Schmitz and Spec Shea combined to pitch Washington to a 7-3 victory over their former New York Yankee teammates as Mickey Vernon and Roy Sievers hammered homers against Eddie Lopat.

Al Kaline hit three home runs, two of them in the sixth inning to tie a major league's record, as Detroit romped to a 16-0 rout of Kansas City. Steve Gromek yielded seven hits for his second victory, both against Athletics.

TUTTLE ACES EIGHTH IN EMPRESS WARM-UP

Don Tuttle, of Vancouver Golf Club, scored a hole-in-one Sunday at the Victoria Golf Club while warming up for the 25th annual Empress Hotel tourney that starts today.

Tuttle, who scored his first ace in 1947, while playing at the St. Nicholas Club in Prestwick, Scotland, played the 18 holes in a par 69. He used an eight iron on the 125-yard eighth hole "Land's End." His partners were Ralph Cossey and Bob Durand of the same Vancouver club.

About 250 men and women players from the Pacific Northwest, Vancouver and Prairie cities teed off today in the week-long tourney.

TO MEET CITY

Heaneys Enter Soccer Final

High-flying Heaneys, leaders of the Victoria and District Football Association first division by a full nine points, joined Victoria City in the Lower Island Province Cup final Sunday when they dusted off Victoria West, 2-1, at Heywood Avenue.

High-flying Heaneys, leaders of the Victoria and District Football Association first division by a full nine points, joined Victoria City in the Lower Island Province Cup final Sunday when they dusted off Victoria West, 2-1, at Heywood Avenue.

The Heaneys club scored two goals after a scoreless first half to enter the cup final, the Coast League's Victoria City having nailed down a berth in the final two weeks ago.

There was no scoring in the first half, but Heaneys took a 1-0 lead in the first minute of the second half, Frank Grealy driving in a scoring shot from 18 yards on a picture play.

Mel Sillars scored what proved to be the winning goal five minutes later and Charlie Forrester got Wests' only goal of the match at the 22-minute mark of the second half.

Cup final between Heaneys and Victoria City probably will be played in two weeks.

At lower Beacon Hill Park Sunday, Wood Motors and Butler Brothers battled through two overtime periods before settling for a 2-2 tie in their Oliver Cup semifinal match. The game will be replayed this week-end.

Archie Taylor rapped in two goals for Wood Motors in the first half, but the youthful Butlers' club squared it in the second half through goals by Gary Crowe and George Robbins. The teams played one extra period each way before the match was called.

Punjab United edged Dutch Wanderers, 4-3, in overtime, in a McGavin Cup first-round match at Reynolds Road.

On Saturday, Tillicums hustled into the Oliver Cup final when they blanked Canadian Scottish, 2-0, at Central Park in their semifinal match. Tillicums scored a goal in each half to take away the victory.

In league play Saturday, Esquimalt and JBAA battled to a 4-4 deadlock, the draw allowing Esquimalt to snip one point off Heaneys' imposing lead.

Don Hendry and Charlie Constable scored first-half goals for JBAA and Ken Barnes replied for Esquimalt to make the score 2-1 for JBAA at the half.

Knott Named President

Veteran pitcher and manager Rom Knott was elected president of the Colwood and District Sotfball League at the annual meeting in Luxton Hall recently.

Cliff Bates is honorary president and I. Monk is vice-president. Mrs. M. Butler was named secretary-treasurer and Mrs. S. Lajeunesse, registrar.

The executive committee is composed of A. Brown, Sooke; C. Sluggett, Brentwood; F. Polson, Elk Lake; C. Skinner, Sidney; V. Lindal, Cordova Bay.

Other representatives will be chosen by districts entering new teams at the managers' meeting, Wednesday night at Luxton Hall at 8.

Eagles Double Up On Soccer Titles

Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association play over the week-end saw fourth division first-half champions, Eagles, win the second-half championship Saturday by blanking Canadian Scottish, 4-0.

The Scots fielded only eight players but put up a good fight until goals by Murray Superle, Daryl McIntyre, John Yousen and Gordie McBride in the second half. The clubs will meet next Sunday in the city knockout final.

In the fifth division Saturday, Combines forced a sudden-death playoff for the league title next week-end by downing first-half champion Eagles, 5-1, to take second-half honors.

Combines led, 2-1, at half-time on two goals by Ron Elphick. They pulled away after the intermission with two goals by Gary Fletcher and one by Joe Stebeck. Bruce Pollard scored for Eagles.

In the third division, Eagles won both halves of the season's league race after Canadian Scottish defaulted the final game. In an exhibition match, three goals by Jamie Costain and one by Beecroft gave Eagles a 4-0 win over the Scots.

On Sunday, the only scheduled league match, between Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans and Eagles in the second division, was cancelled. The two teams will meet in a knockout match next Sunday.

In an exhibition game, Eagles of the first division edged out a Yarrows team, 1-0, composed of Al McMillan of Victoria City and several Punjab United players. The only goal came after McMillan deflected Don Stewart's drive into his own net.

Royals Whip Cataracts; Series Tied

MONTREAL (CP) — Sure goal-tending by Gilles Boisvert and a three-goal outburst by the Royals in the second period enabled Montreal to down Shawinigan Falls Cataracts 5-1 Sunday in the fourth game of their Quebec Hockey League playoff series.

The Montreal victory knotted the best-of-seven series at two games apiece. Each club has won a pair of games on its home ice.

Eddie Mazur scored an unassisted goal 40 seconds after the opening face-off to give the Royals a lead they never lost. Orval Tessier, Jack Bownass and Ray Laplante gave the Royals a 4-0 edge near the halfway mark of the second period. Gilles Dube spoiled Boisvert's shutout later in the middle stanza when he stole the puck deep in Montreal territory and connected from 15 feet.

At Shawinigan Falls Saturday, the Cataracts blanked the Royals 4-0 in a fast, wide-open game. Inern Perreault, Dick Wray, George Faulkner and Dube were the marksmen.

Cricket Test Ends in Draw

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (Reuters)—The second cricket test match between the West Indies and Australia ended Saturday in a draw.

Rain, which held up play for almost two hours, and a magnificent fighting century by Clyde Walcott—his second of the match—killed any hopes Australia may have had of a victory.

Despite the stoppages caused by rain, the West Indies team, who were 40 for one wicket overnight, went hard for the runs, and had scored 273 for four at the close. Australia won the first Test by nine wickets.

The match was a triumph for Walcott, whose century Saturday was his third in the series against Australia.

The West Indies had made 382 in their first innings, and began the day 178 runs behind the Australian first innings total of 600 for nine declared.

Flyers Leave

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Flyers, Western Hockey League champions, left by train Sunday for eastern Canada and the Edinburgh Trophy finals.

The Flyers will arrive in Fort William, Ont., Tuesday where they will play an all-star professional squad in an exhibition game Wednesday night.

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Marlboros, Memorial Cup finalists, left by train tonight for Regina and the cup playoffs. The best-of-seven series starts Thursday.

City Draws With Scots To Tighten Coast Race

Victoria City fed their gnawing Coast Soccer League appetite Saturday when they shared a 3-3 draw with St. Andrews at Athletic Park.

The split in points left Tommy Restell's young hustlers in third place in the league standings but things are so tight City is only two points away from league-leading North Shore United.

COAST SOCCER LEAGUE	P	W	L	D	F	A	Pt.
New Westminster	3	2	1	0	8	5	4
North Shore	3	2	0	1	8	4	5
VICTORIA CITY	3	1	1	1	7	9	3
Vancouver City	3	1	2	0	5	8	2
St. Andrews	2	0	0	2	6	6	2
Firefighters	2	0	2	0	2	4	0

The City club took the lead three times, only to see the offensively strong but defensively weak mainland team fight back to tie it.

City took advantage of the fact that the Scots were experimenting with a new goalkeeper. Former juvenile player John Mayervitch was between the posts for St. Andrews and had some weak moments, although he made a save late in the game that undoubtedly saved the tie for his club.

Cedric Robb gave City the lead for the first time after 34 minutes of the first half, slicing in a free kick after being fouled by Scots' Jack Steele.

That was all the scoring in the first half, but St. Andrews finally hit the score sheet when John Swan headed in fine pass from Bill Logan.

Three minutes later George Wright restored Victoria's lead when his probing pass bounded past several players and Mayervitch.

Swan scored his second goal to make it 2-2, collaborating with three mates and finishing the play with a well-placed ground shot.

Mayervitch saved what appeared to be a certain goal when he lunged and got one hand to a stinging drive by Ab Travis, deflecting the ball past the post. But Travis got the best of Mayervitch on his next chance, heading in a relay from Robb and Harold Holroyd to make it 3-2 for City at the 22-minute mark of the second half.

St. Andrew's fashioned the draw decision with six minutes left in the see-saw match, Stu Crossan taking Steve Biddle's pass and scoring with a low shot.

Eisenhower Accused Of Political Fraud

Truman Says Administration Blundered On Vital Domestic, Foreign Policies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry S. Truman accused the Eisenhower administration Saturday night of political fraud and trickery in the field of foreign policy.

From Adlai Stevenson came a call to Democrats to "stand for peace—which is the most urgent business of the 20th century, the hydrogen age."

The former president and the 1952 contender spoke at a huge $100-a-plate banquet honoring speaker Sam Rayburn—the beloved "Mr. Sam" of legions of Democrats.

Truman's speech was a raking attack on the administration.

He accused it of bad management and blundering, as well as playing "political tricks with the grave and serious issues of both foreign and domestic policies."

For one thing, he lit into the administration for its announcement in 1953 that the 7th Fleet would no longer be used to "shield" Red China from Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists.

"The Republican administration must have known," Truman said, "that the picture of an unleashed Chiang Kai-shek invading China was a barefaced political fraud.

"But the idea behind all this was to attempt to discredit the sound policy of the Democratic administration which was carefully designed to limit the conflict in the Far East.

"And now the Republican administration is desperately trying not only to limit the conflict in Asia, but to get a permanent ceasefire there. I fervently hope they do.

"But the administration, by this unfortunate political manoeuvre in its state of the union message, in 1953, has enabled the Communists to picture us as instigating and preparing an attack on China and has embroiled us in controversies with almost all our allies in Asia and in Europe.

Stevenson, in a much briefer speech than Truman's, said the Democratic party must stand for three basic things if it is to be true to itself. He named these as social progress, civil freedom and peace.

Ike-Kissing Democrats Get Scorched

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times quotes former President Truman as saying "I have got tired a long time ago of some mealy-mouthed Democratic senators who kiss Ike on both cheeks."

Truman did not name these senators, a Washington dispatch by William S. White to The Times says, adding:

"The implication seemed inescapable, however, that he was far from satisfied with the restrained partisan activity of the present Democratic leadership of the Senate headed by Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas."

The story, based on an interview with Truman Sunday after his torrid speech Saturday night at the testimonial dinner in Washington Speaker Sam Rayburn, also says:

"He made it plain that in accusing the Eisenhower administration . . . of the most 'cynical political behavior' since the Harding era he had meant some of his fire to fall also on certain Democrats."

The Times story says Truman disclosed that his only remaining political purpose is to defend the Demo atic party and, most of all—to use his own words—"to keep it over on the liberal side."

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Written Word More Powerful Than Atom-Elson

TORONTO (CP)—The daily newspaper can hold its own in any competition, Robert T. Elson, deputy managing editor of Life magazine, said Saturday night.

Addressing about 500 persons at the sixth annual National Newspaper Awards dinner, Mr. Elson referred to seven Canadian newspaper men who were honored at the affair and then said:

"They are living proof that the daily newspaper—beset as it is by television, the radio, the news magazine and even picture magazines such as Life—can hold its own in any competition."

The National Newspaper Awards were given for work done in 1954 and judged the best in its field by men and women employed by Canadian daily newspapers and news associations. Winners received $400 each and a certificate.

Mr. Elson, guest speaker, referred to radio and television and asked:

"What do we have to offer that these other mediums do not?

". . . The one thing we do have to offer is that extraordinary thing that is more powerful than the atom bomb—the written word . . . It is permanent, it is the record and rather than becoming less important, I think that the written word is becoming more important."

Force Will Not Change Chinese Govt.—Attlee

3,000 in Vancouver Hear British Socialist Propose 'Trusteeship' for Formosa

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Labor Leader Clement Attlee started his party's May 26 election campaign Saturday night 6,000 miles from home with a major policy speech on foreign affairs.

In a n[illegible]dress to an audience of 3,000 at Exhibition Gardens here, the former British prime minister warned of war and said that the world must learn to live with the Communists.

He indicated that in the event of another world war there "will be no victory for anyone but only defeat and ruination."

In his hour-long speech he also called for United Nations recognition of Communist China.

The Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek is "corrupt," he said, and Formosa should be put under a "trusteeship" and after a period the people of the island should decide what they want to do with themselves. He warned that force will not bring about a change in gover[illegible]nt in China.

DECRIES ATTACK

He said the Chinese Communist government was not "democratic" but had done a great deal of good work. An attack on China would drive it into the "arms of Russia." Mr. Attlee speculated that if Communist China had had a seat in the United Nations it might not have entered the Korean war.

Large-scale war would mean the "destruction of our civilization," he said. Peace would only come with the adoption of "ethical principles" throughout the world.

He said he realized Russia is not democratic, but "we must live with people who don't hold our own view."

The Labor party will continue its policy of finding a common ground with Russia, Mr. Attlee said.

Turning to European problems, he said there is a great reluctance to rearm Germany but it is necessary. Nobody wants to go to war to protect an unarmed Germany. One of the major tasks in Europe is to overcome the prejudice between Germany and France. It will take a long time to achieve a peaceful Europe, he said.

BIG AUDENCE

Dave Kirkwood, Fiery Scottish Laborite, Dies

GLASGOW (AP) — Baron Kirkwood of Bearsden, once the fiery rebel of the Scottish labor movement and lifelong champion of the Clydeside ship workers, died Saturday. He was 82.

An ardent socialist and strong trade unionist throughout his life, David Kirkwood accepted a peerage when he retired from the House of Commons in 1951.

To those who expressed surprise, he remarked: "The workers are in control now. We have revolutionized society. I can take it wi' an easy conscience."

Kirkwood's campaigning was credited for government financial support to complete the Cunard liner Queen Mary in the 1930s when unemployment spread throughout the Scottish shipyards.

Waste, Inefficiency Charge Against Power Commission

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Charges of waste and inefficiency on the part of the B.C. Power Commission were made by former city electrician K. A. C. Jack in a written explanation of his resignation.

Mr Jack resigned last week despite an effort by city council to get him to stay.

The power commission is linked with the city by an agreement to search for a source of hydro power and to take care of local needs by helping to provide adequate diesel—electric facilities in the meantime.

Mr. Jack charged that installations carried out under power commission auspices have cost $40,000 more than they should have and the commission made two major errors, one of them irremediable, in installing an $86,000 diesel-electric unit.

How to KEEP FIT after 50

In the old days fifty seemed the signal to slow down—take things easy—watch your diet—get more rest. It's still good advice. But these days you can face fifty with many interesting and active years ahead,—active, that is, if you can avoid backache and the "tired-out" feeling, due to kidney and bladder disorders, that often develop around that age. For more than 60 years Dodd's Kidney Pills have been helping men and women of all ages to keep kidneys and bladder in good order,—helping them to feel better, to work better, and get more fun out of life. If you are approaching fifty, or past it, Dodd's Kidney Pills may help you, too. You can depend on Dodd's. .54

A. V. Roe Workers Refuse Overtime

of A. V. Roe Canada Limited voted Sunday against adopting a plan—backed by the International Association of Machinists (AFL) executive—for a shorter work week to avoid an anticipated layoff of 2,000 workers.

However, they voted approval of fining employees who accept overtime work at the two company plants in suburban Malton. The resolution calls for a $10 fine for each hour worked overtime.

The rejected plan was for a 35-hour work week with a corresponding drop in pay.

The meeting was called to protest a recent government-ordered cut in production of the CF-100 jet fighter which led to the layoff of 1,000 workers.

Rail Embargo on Grain to Lakehead

WINNIPEG (CP) — An embargo has been clamped on all railway shipments of grain to the Lakehead.

The embargo, expected to slow farm grain deliveries to elevators, took effect Saturday when 1,200 Lakehead grain handlers went on strike in support of wage demands.

Railways spokesmen said about 5,500 cars already are on track at the Lakehead awaiting unloading and 3,500 more are en route. They said the embargo will remain in effect until the strike is settled.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Shows General Rise

TORONTO (CP)—All major sections edged ahead in heavy trading.

Algoma and General Dynamics led the industrial list, both jumping 2½. Asbestos climbed $2. Weston's dropped 1⅛, Loblaw Inc. $1, Burns B $1.

Bailey Selburn A made the biggest jump in other sections, shooting up $1.52½ to $11.12½, following announcement last week that wet gas had been discovered on the company's property near Calgary.

Also strong among western oils were Canadian Williston and Canso Oil Producers.

Hollinger led some advancing gold issues, climbing 1¼.

Campbell Chibougama showed the best advance among base metals, jumping 25 to $8.

Consolidated Denison dropped 30 to $8.20 and Lorado 25 to $4.40 among uranium issues.

NEW YORK (AP)—Buoyant defense stocks sent the market bouncing ahead.

Gains of one to three points and on out to around six points were found in the list. Losses extended to around two points.

Aircrafts were strong and active. They had support from motors, railroads and airlines, and there were some good gains in steels, coppers, chemicals, building materials, motion pictures and oils.

Lower Canadian stocks included McIntyre off ¾, Distillers Seagram down ¼, and International Nickel off ⅛. Canadian Pacific advanced ½.

MONTREAL (CP) — The stock market was higher in active trading.

General Dynamics advanced 3½, Windsor Hotel 3, Algoma 2¾, Eddy A 2, International Paper and Asbestos each 1½. Price, Great Lakes, Hudson Bay, Consolidated Smelters and Du Pont were fractionally higher.

Mines were irregularly stronger. Cassiar and Sullivan each rose 25 cents, Quebec Nickel 23 cents, Canadian Lithium 10 cents, and Standard 9 cents. Coulee was off 20 cents and Headway was down 15 cents.

VANCOUVER — The market was dull with prices slightly lower.

Mid West Gas sold 3,100 ranging from $2.70 to $2.80; Sparmac moved 7,500 at 45; Vantor traded 24,100 between 52 and 54; Ad Astra sold 7,500 at 14; Beaver Lodge sold 1,700 at 68; Bralorne traded 200 at $2.75; National Explorations sold 7,200 going to $2.20 from $2.10; Pacific Nickel sold 3,800 at 32; Inland Gas moved 2,000 at $3.00; Mackino Mines moved 3,000 at 60; Capital Estates sold 1,800 at $5; Western Potash sold 3,200 at 53; Sunshine Lardo moved 6,500 at 34.

LONDON (Reuters) — With the budget only one day away and with the election announcement made there was little to encourage any extension of commitments on the London stock exchange.

Gold shares tended easier. Coppers moved irregularly but later steadied. Tins and other commodity shares were quiet with leading oils dull.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices moved narrowly in dull trade but showed a relatively firm trend.

Steady U.S. markets were a factor. Some traders awaited developments in the strike of grain handlers at the Lakehead.

Export of a small parcel of flax to the continent was reported. Routine domestic business was noted in oats and barley and interest was shown in barley by international concerns.

Domestic and IWA No. 1 durum were down one-eighth cent. Top grades of other IWA and domestic and class two wheat were unchanged.

$600 Million Invested In Canada From Europe

A few months ago this column made note of the fact a considerable amount of European capital was being employed in Canada's current development.

Now the magazine Business Week has provided comment on the same subject with more specific information as to the extent of Europe's participation in Canadian growth.

The magazine has this to say:

"Since the war—and especially since 1950—European portfolio investment (stocks and bonds, government and private) has increased 35 per cent to $300,000,000 at the end of 1953 (the latest available figures). Direct investment — in companies, plants and facilities—has tripled to $186,000,000.

"If you add a classification of 'miscellaneous' investment, the Belgians, Swiss, Germans, Dutch, Swedes, Italians and French have upwards of $600,000,000 at work in Canada, out of a total long-term foreign investment there of $11,400,000,000."

Business Week points out: "That's small change compared to the U.S. stake—$8,800,000,000 a year ago—or even to Britain's $2,000,000,000 Canadian investment. But European capital can't help but play a larger role in Canadian development.

"It also can have an important influence on trade and business relationships across the Atlantic and on the character of the Canadian business community itself."

St. Lawrence Cement Co., which began operations outside of Quebec City two months ago, was set up by Swiss interests, Holderbank Financiere, which has 20 cement plants in other parts of the world.

The Quebec plant cost $13,000,000. It has a capacity of 1,500,000 barrels a year.

The Swiss picked Quebec City for its plant site since it had no cement works, and Canada Cement was shipping in from Montreal with high transport costs. St. Lawrence Cement already has 160 dealers and Canada Cement has had to meet its price in the Quebec market. There's talk that the Swiss may announce a second plant before long in Ontario or western Quebec.

Cement looks good to the Belgians, too. A Brussels combine is going into the business in Alberta. It has set up Inland Cement Co., which is building a $7,000,000 plant at Edmonton.

Dosco Closing Glace Bay Mine

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. announced Saturday it is closing permanently one of its biggest Glace Bay collieries because there is no market for its close to 400,000 tons of coal a year.

No. 1-B will shut down for good May 31, the first of the company's major producers to be taken out of service since oil and other fuels began chipping away at coal's traditional markets more than a year ago.

The shutdown will put 725 miners out of work. Informants said it was "extremely doubtful" if they could be absorbed in other Cape Breton mines and all were expected to begin filing unemployment benefit claims June 1.

The shutdown will boost the number of jobless among Cape Breton's 165,000 persons to nearly 5,000.

Labor Only Cost Continuing To Rise in Home Building

TORONTO (CP)—Labor's demands for higher wages have offset and, in some cases, exceeded decreases in other building costs, the president of the Canadian Construction Association said today.

W. G. Malcom, Winnipeg contractor, said there has been a tendency among construction workers to expect increases each year as automatic.

He told the Toronto Builders' Exchange that a 10-cent-an-hour increase adds about $200 in labor costs on the average house and about $400 by the time the mortgage is paid.

"This is not to say that the earnings of construction workers need be 'frozen'," he said.

Mr. Malcom said wage rates are the only upward cost factor among the main items that make up construction costs.

Sooke Chamber Member Urges Division of School District 62

By D. R. FORRESTER
Times Sooke Correspondent

SOOKE—Splitting of Sooke School District 62 into two portions was advocated last week by D. J. DeRochie, chairman of the Sooke-Jordan River Chamber of Commerce education committee, in an address to the chamber.

The district stretches from Colwood to Port Reufrew, with voting power of trustees concentrated in the Langford-Colwood-Metchosin area, he said, whereas 62 per cent of the taxes come from the outer area.

"Colwood and Langford are practically suburbs of Victoria and have little in common with the rest of the district," he said.

ADDITION UNNECESSARY

Purchasing of materials for school repairs is confined largely to the Langford-Colwood portion of the school district, Mr. DeRochie charged, instead of being distributed among suppliers throughout the area. He further stated that a proposed addition of four classrooms to the Belmont High School is unnecessary, and that the Department of Education had stated that present facilities at that school will care for the needs of the inner area for another five years.

"As the population of District 62 becomes more and more lopsided when compared to the taxation picture, a split in the district becomes more and more inevitable," Mr. DeRochie said. "It is only a question of time."

It was decided that two delegates, Frank Gray and John D. Reeves, be appointed from the chamber to join the committee which now is investigating the matter of a split.

PLAGUE FEARED

Mr. Gray also was delegated to attend a meeting being sponsored by Sooke Farmers' Institute Monday, at which a threatened plague of tent caterpillars will be discussed with a view to some definite action being taken.

The matter of a fill on the Sooke Road immediately to the west of the Sooke River Bridge received considerable attention. It was pointed out that this work had been hanging fire for some seven years and that in the meantime a dangerous corner had to be negotiated by continuous traffic.

A letter will be sent to Highway Minister P. A. Gaglardi requestioning that completion of this will be no longer delayed.

Dr. N. L. Goodwin reported the West Coast Ambulance Association, sponsored by the chamber, is "skating on thin ice" financially. It has been suggested that some government aid might be available for this vital service and the matter is being explored further.

Chamber president, Dr. W. J. McCauley, will attend the annual meeting of the B.C. Chamber in Vancouver in May.

USE FUNDS TO FIX SCHOOL, ALDERMEN TELL TRUSTEES

DUNCAN—City council has recommended to Cowichan District 65 school board that $9,500 in unexpended by-law funds be used to repair the sub-floor of Cowichan High School.

Original intention of the board was to use the money to build a sidewalk in front of the school on James Street, and to make improvements on the grounds.

City streets committee suggested the responsibility for the sidewalk belonged to North Cowichan rather than the school board.

False Teeth Often Have a Certain Odor!

Polident is the specially designed cleanser that keeps false teeth—and breath—clean and fresh always. Follow these simple rules.

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.

2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath."

3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only . . . Polident! Polident is the denture cleanser recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates that can slip and break. Polident gets where a brush can't reach. Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter.

RESCUERS, RESCUED WIN PRAISE

ZEBALLOS (CP) — Coroner H. Sutton has commended three men and a woman for bravery in the wreck of a 30-foot gasboat on the west coast of Vancouver Island that claimed one life.

The coroner's jury Friday night brought in a verdict of accidental death at the inquest day of Gunnar Markvardson, manager of the J. H. Todd fish-into the drowning last Wednesing company camp at Esperanza. No blame was attached to anyone.

He was drowned when the boat, in which he and two companions were riding, capsized about 150 feet offshore from the camp.

Coroner Sutton gave special praise to Alden Michaels and his wife, Rose, an Indian couple who pulled Robert McFarlane and Rennie Stanton to safety.

He also had high praise for the bravery of McFarlane and Rennie for repeated efforts to save Markvardson and assistance they rendered each other.

RCMP at Zeballos said all four would be recommended for Humane Society awards.

Salt Spring Seeking Improved Ferry Plan

Transportation Section Urges Substitute For Regular Craft During Annual Overhaul

GANGES—A delegation from the transportation committee of the Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce, meeting with directors of the Salt Spring Island Ferry Company, urged immediate improvement in the ferry service from Fulford Harbor to Swartz Bay.

Concern was expressed by members of the delegation over the annual layoff of the ferry "Cy Peck," scheduled for April 25, and the inadequate provisions that are usually made for transportation to Vancouver Island during the layoff.

A. M. Field, chairman of the transportation committee, suggested that a great deal of good will would be gained from the public and residents of Salt Spring Island if the ferry "George S. Pearson" were operated during this period from the government wharf at Fulford to the Sidney government wharf.

ALTER WHARVES

It was further urged that the wharves at Fulford and Swartz Bay be altered as soon as possible in order to get the "George S. Pearson" into operation as a spare and thus make the wharves suitable for any boat landing.

In this connection C. F. Mouat, secretary of the committee, has been directed to arrange a meeting with the minister of public works. A letter has been sent to Evan Jones, deputy minister of public works, urging the removal of piling at Fulford Harbor and Swartz Bay to enable the Pearson or any other ferry to use these wharves when the "Cy Peck" is in for overhaul.

1955 COMMITTEES

Members of the transportation committee include Mr. Field, chairman; C. F. Mouat, secretary; G. C. Mouat, M. Atkins, E. Avery, D. Crofton, A. E. Roddis, George Young, T. Ayers and C. H. Ker-Cooper.

Other committees of the chamber for 1955 include: Roads, parks, street and wharf lights, D. Crofton, H. McGill, J. B. Acland, W. H. Bradley, E. Booth and A. Young; garbage and clean-up, E. Booth, Mrs. M. Wells, A. Wilson and L. Mouat; industry, finance and membership, C. F. Mouat, S. J. Wagg, Mrs. M. Girvin, G. Humphries and K. C. Morris.

Police Check Bullet Holes In Cruiser

VANCOUVER (CP) — RCMP started investigation Sunday into the discovery here of a luxurious 36-foot cabin cruiser stolen at Nanaimo.

Police examined the Mary Pat for the fingerprints and attempted to determine the source of what appeared to be bullet holes in the windows and cabin.

The craft, owned by Stanley Blackburn Sr. of Nanaimo and his son, Bud of Duncan, was found ashore near Siwash Rock, at the entrance to Vancouver harbor. It was towed to the immigration wharf here.

RCMP were also reported to be investigating the possibility that the boat may have been stolen by two escapees from the Brannan Lake Boys' Industrial School near Nanaimo, reported missing Friday.

Waterworks Job Ready in Year

CHEMAINUS — Because all the work on the installation of the new Chemainus waterworks system is now to be done by contract and not by municipal labor, it was expected the work would be completed this year and not in three phases as first planned, Reeve C. A. P. Murison said today.

Anti-Polio Inoculations Started

By PETE LOUDON

Grade One pupils in Beacon Hill, Bank Street and Oaklands Elementary Schools today bared their arms for the first Salk anti-polio vaccine injections.

Altogether, about 231 youngsters received one cubic centimetre each of the precious vaccine. They are slated to receive their second round next Monday and the third after another month. More than 5,000 are registered.

The children appeared to find the needle a simple and almost painless matter.

An undetermined number of children who will be starting school for the first time this September were also treated by the public health nurses at the three schools. Nurses were at the school promptly at 9 a.m. and the youngsters began to file through the temporary clinics by 9.15. Each operation took only seconds.

The picture was duplicated in centres across the continent. It was the first step in safeguarding an initial registration of 50,000 children in this province—hundreds of thousands more from Florida to California in the U.S.A.

Delayed shipments of vaccine forced some states to postpone their assault against polio. Priority was given to point in the southeast and southwest where polio usually strikes first.

6,000 LISTED

About 6,000 Greater Victoria families have their names on waiting lists at drug stores for commercial vaccine which is expected within 10 days.

It will be sold by prescription only. Some city doctors have indicated they favor immunization of expectant mothers and children before adult males.

Two Canadian drug supply houses said last week they will market enough vaccine to catch up with the demand before the end of the summer.

Victoria has had two polio cases recorded this year. One is almost recovered and the other not serious.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Anonymous letters usually leave me slightly colder than an Eskimo pie in the bottom of the deep freeze. People without enough courage to sign their correct name to their opinions shouldn't have opinions, and certainly shouldn't try to put them on paper.

However, the latest anonymous screed to reach this desk is utterly stupid, it deserves printing—signed or unsigned.

(Besides which, this is Monday, and I don't feel like writing a column).

Victoria, B.C.

You are probably too vain to read this, because it might hurt.

Dear Monte Roberts:

As I was glancing over the paper this evening, I chanced to read your column and I might say I was very disappointed in the nature of it. It is not at all nice to be so out and out mean to a person doing such splendid work as Bert Thomas. In the first place I doubt very much if Bert ever meant what he said about weatherman Bill Mackie in the way you took it. There are many things which are said that can be taken in two different aspects, and I have often onticed you take them in harsh way which brings misery upon somebody. Also you've said numerous remarks about people which are hard to stomach. You're really quite a show-off!

How many times have you unthinkingly said: "Oh, don't be such a worry wart" and two minutes later you wouldn't even known you had said it! I'm sure that is what Bert did.

In all the comments which Mr. Thomas has made you take one phrase and pick it apart like a child would do. What about the show he put on for the Solarium? I'd like to see you swim in that frigid water, or do anything for that matter for the crippled children. Don't be so mean about people.

I can only hope that the Good Lord has mercy on you come judgment day.

"A young teenager's viewpoint." The public up to now has had much respect for Bert, you are jealous of him so you're trying to make them lose it.

On the other hand, Jim Sewell, of 302 Skinner Street, has been good enough to SIGN his name to the following:

Dear Monte:

Your beautifully handled snub in tonight's paper is to your everlasting credit. It was needed to counteract that little bit of typical American bombast that Bert Thomas handed out the other night. One dozen roses to you.

David Mar May Get Scholarship From Gonzaga

Seventeen-year-old Chinese baritone David Mar may have won a Gonzaga University scholarship following an audition by the famed Glee Club here Saturday night.

Rotary past president Dr. J. T. Cruise said the youth made a favorable impression and the university will possibly make him an offer "after another high school year."

Son of Dr. Peter Mar, David came here from China six years ago. He was unable to speak English. Now he speaks it fluently. David won a bursary at the recent Greater Victoria Musical Festival.

Gonzaga Glee Club appeared before a crowd of 1,000 at Central Junior High School under sponsorship of Victoria Rotary. Listeners called the group the equal of any on the continent.

Highlight of the presentation was the finale in which the singers impersonated band instruments vocally. Also popular were light, popular arrangements of a glee club quartet.

B.C. Tories Organize Vote Drive

British Columbia federal Conservatives have decided on an immediate re-organization of federal riding associations in preparations for an expected 1957 federal election, it was learned today.

First step in this direction was taken Saturday in Vancouver when delegates from 18 federal ridings, women and young conservative associations, attended a meeting of the B.C. Federal Council to hear party leaders and to debate organization matters.

The council was formed last year to manage federal Progressive Conservative affairs in this province following a split between the national and B.C. parties.

ORGANIZER NAMED

Appointment of Fred Waterhouse as full-time federal organizer for B.C. was announced by the council. He will be in charge of the new federal headquarters at 736 Granville Street in Vancouver.

Mr. Waterhouse was for eight years an organizer for Conservative party in Great Britain.

A letter from national party leader George Drew confirming the new federal council will have sole jurisdiction over all federal party matters in B.C., was read at the meeting.

Among those who attended were Howard Green, M.P.; Maj.-Gen. George Pearkes, VC., MP, and E. Davie Fulton, MP.

BIG 'FORE' HERE TODAY

Under perfect weather conditions, a field of 164 golfers teed off today in the qualifying round of the 25th annual Empress Golf Tournament at Victoria Golf Club.

Among the competitors were 116 men and 48 women. Defending champions Mrs. H. G. Mearnes and George Goodwin, both of Victoria, were among those who teed off today.

No qualifying scores were available at press-time.

Bert Thomas Seeks Funds For Next Swim

May Be Forced To Find Work

Strait swimmer Bert Thomas soon may be looking for a job in Victoria to make money for his next attempt on Juan de Fuca Strait.

He said today his contract with hotelman Bernie Nicholls expired with last Thursday's swim try, and he no longer feels it would be fair to the Cherry Bank Hotel owner to continue as his manager and source of funds.

Now on his own, Thomas went to Tacoma today to seek financial support for his next swim try in May.

"If I don't get funds," the burly logger said, "I'll be looking for a job when I get back here. I'm a good worker," he added.

Nicholls will continue to provide Mr. and Mrs. Thomas with accommodation at the Cherry Bank, where they will resume residence Wednesday for the next 30 days.

FROGMAN JOB

Thomas said he had been offered a "beautiful job" in the U.S. testing and demonstrating frogmen and underwater equipment, but refused it because of the forthcoming swim.

A Vancouver towing firm has told Thomas it would provide vessels for his next Strait swim attempt.

He said he is not at liberty to disclose which firm had made the offer, but thought arrangements could be completed.

Island Tug and Barge Ltd. provided three tugs and navigator Capt. Hugh Evans for the Tacoman's unsuccessful swim last Thursday night, but president Harold B. Elworthy said Friday his firm would not make tugs available for swimmers until better weather conditions prevail in August.

Thomas said he regrets Island Tug vessels will not be available until the summer, but feels his May swim will be favored by good tides. He said he is deeply appreciative of the help rendered by the Victoria firm.

SMALLER BOAT

For the next swim a smaller escort boat likely will be used so the swimmer may keep closer to the coach and navigator. At times Thursday trainer Maurie Hume and Bert's wife Marion in the coaching boat lost track of the 270-pound ex-marine when turbulent waters closed over his head and carried him away from them.

The next swim, also planned at night, will employ a phosphorescent bathing cap for Thomas to facilitate keeping a bearing on him in darkness.

"But I'm not going to do anything until I get the right crew," Thomas said.

He said a highly organized team would have to be built during the next 30 days to provide mainly for proper feeding during the swim attempt.

Indian Burglar Jailed 9 Months

A member of the Songhees Indian Reserve was sentenced to nine months at Oakalla in Colwood RCMP court today on a charge of breaking and entering and theft from another dwelling on the reserve.

He was charged with breaking and entering and theft from the home of Alfred Joseph George.

RCMP said the theft occurred about April 10, while the George family was away in California.

He was arrested Saturday afternoon.

Dockyard Worker Tumbles From Inner Harbor Wharf

A 55-year-old Esquimalt man died Sunday after falling from a wharf at the British American Oil Co. Ltd., 51 Songhees, and plunging 15 feet into chilly Inner Harbor waters.

Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart said today an inquest will be held into the death of Hubert Franklin Winters, 549 Paradise Street. It will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. at Hayward's Funeral Parlor.

City police, called to the scene at 4.55 p.m., found his body floating under the wharf.

FOREHEAD BRUISE

They said the man had a bad bruise on his forehead.

It is believed he slipped and fell from the wharf, striking his head on a bumper log while falling.

It is not known whether he died from the blow or from drowning.

Police removed the body from the water and an inhalator crew from the city fire department attempted revival for 15 minutes before arrival of a doctor.

He was pronounced dead by Dr. E. L. McNiven, who was summoned to the scene.

Police were called by Bruce McMaster, a nephew of the dead man and a first mate aboard the oil tanker "Unitanker," berthed at the wharf.

Mr. McMaster, who resides at 8718 Hudson Street, Vancouver, said Mr. Winters had come to the wharf to take him to his home for a visit.

Two deckhands aboard the tanker, Gordon Murray and Richard Hopkins, said they saw Mr. Winters standing on the wharf at about 4 p.m.

Mr. McMaster left the boat to meet his uncle and saw his car near the wharf.

When he could not find Mr. Winters he phoned police.

The body was found in the water.

Mr. Winters, a technician in charge of the central tool crib at HMC Dockyard, was born at Dundalk, Ont., in 1899.

After working for a time in Calgary, he moved here in 1942.

He was a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and of the Canadian Legion, Britannia Branch.

Surviving are the widow, Edna, at home; one daughter, Mrs. Mona Veighton, Cobble Hill; his mother, Mrs. Maud Winters, at his home, and one sister, Mrs. Vera Waddell, Ocean Falls.

Byron Johnson In Hospital

Former Premier Byron Johnson was taken ill suddenly Saturday night and is in Royal Jubilee Hospital. His condition was reported slightly improved today.

Shipyard Lay-Offs Seen Hitting 2,000

Shipbuilders' Head Asks Protection From U.K. Ships for Coastal Shipping

Canadian ships "don't have a chance" to compete in coastal shipping against British vessels because of lower costs of operation, T. R. McLagan, president, Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association, said here today.

If coastal shipping was closed to British vessels, it would give Canadian shipbuilders a chance to construct for Canadian trade, he said.

"We know of 14 ships being built in England now for the trade here."

Mr. McLagan is here attending his organization's annual convention with representatives of all Canada's major shipyards.

Canada's right to change her coastal shipping laws should be exercised now to assure her of a continuing shipbuilding industry.

"Indications are that the industry is entering a period of declining orders.

"Employment in the industry has dropped from 17,492 in January last year to 12,234 in January, 1955.

"At least another 2,000 lay-offs are expected by the end of the year. The tapering off of the naval progr m and lack of new orders for xport and deep-sea owners are responsible."

He said to preserve the skilled work force and facilities and keep abreast of modern construction and repair techniques "the association advocates reservation of Canada's coastal shipping trade to ships of Canadian registry built in this country."

BIG ADVANTAGE

United Kingdom ship builders had a "tremendous advantage" over Canadian counterparts because wages there are about one-third what they are in Canada, he said.

Mr. McLagan said his organization favors a government subsidy here for both builders and operators to allow maintenance of a Canadian merchant fleet.

H. A. Wallace, vice-president and managing director, Yarrows Ltd., Harold Husband, president of Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., C. S. Thicks, executive vice-president, Burrard Dry Dock Co., North Vancouver, and H. S. 'FULLY ALIVE AND NATURAL'

First Hi-Fi Symphony Concert Draws Near-Capacity Audience

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

A near-capacity audience at Fox Theatre Sunday greeted enthusiastically the first recorded full symphony concert to be given in Canada on high fidelity.

As the result of a collection taken during the afternoon, $87 will be handed over to the Victoria Symphony Society by the Recorded Music Society, sponsor of the affair.

Proving acoustically ideal, sound was so fully alive and natural that one had a hard time convincing oneself there was not an orchestra playing behind the beautifully lighted curtain.

Magnificent performances by such outstanding artists and organizations as Gilels and the Paris Conservatoire Orchestra and the NBC Orchestra with Toscanini were among the choice items on the program. As a conclusion a nine-minute performance of an excerpt from the Tchaikowsky Fourth Symphony, conducted by Alfred Newman, was presented on the cinema-scopic screen.

H. E. Stubbings, president of the Recorded Music Society, introduced the program, and announced plans for a series of similar concerts next winter, alternating with the Victoria Symphony Orchestra Sunday concerts. He referred to the public-spirited support of the theatre manager, B. J. Nixon, who had loaned the theatre and was willing to continue doing so in the future, so that all proceeds might go to the Victoria Symphony.

Iron-On Bric-a-Brac Tape For New Summer Cottons

By PENNY SAVER

Starting to sew cotton clothes for summer yet? I know many who are. For skirts and blouses for the little tads, and older ones too, a bric-a-brac trim is always bright and youthful looking. Some people shy away from using it though, because they find that they lose patience in trying to sew it on straight, and often the handling of such tiny strips is a little hard on the eyes. Well, as you've probably guessed, I've found something to make this operation a little simpler. The scalloped trim bric-a-brac I discovered is an iron-on tape. Really, that's all you do! Just press with a hot iron and there the trim is on . . . and to stay.

You wash, clean, and iron this material and it won't come off or shrink. There are all colors to choose from, and you can buy 7½ yards for 39 cents. That's under six cents a yard.

Some time ago I mentioned collars and cuffs to replace frayed and worn ones on men's shirts. The store where I saw them was out of the cuffs for a while, but they've just received a new shipment. With regular or French cuffs, they're 69 cents a pair, and made of sanforized broadcloth . . . still only in white.

I found a very handy little shampoo brush today. It's made of pliable rubber plastic that's firm enough to give your scalp a good massage and cleaning, yet not so hard as to be uncomfortable. It's a round shape, and on the back is a loop large enough to slip your middle finger through. Thus it's firmly attached to your hand, and ready to put to use. They're made in pink and blue, and are pretty wonderful, I think. Take my word for it . . . I tried one. For 25 cents, these are a very good buy. Some time ago, similar shampoo brushes were on sale in the same material, but in a little different shape. They were considerably higher priced.

Thought I'd jot a little note about a letter I received today. It's from a reader in Bowmanville, Ont. She was inquiring about the doll clothes I mentioned a little while ago, but hastily informed me that the toys were for a second generation, not a second childhood! I must admit, though, that I was close to the latter myself when I first saw the adorably fashioned doll clothes. Yes, The Times sure travels around the country, doesn't it!

AS WE LIVE

Wishes Daughter Were Closer to Her Family

By ELIZABETH HURLOCK, PhD

No two people are alike. One cannot expect even sisters to behave alike in a similar situation.

(Q.) "I have two married daughters. The older daughter seems more wrapped up in her own home and family than the younger. She has never shown a real affection for me as my younger daughter did, and now she seems even less close to me than she was before she was married. My younger daughter, on the other hand, is more affectionate and spends more time with me. I would like to feel that we are one large, happy family but I cannot seem to make my older daughter want to share the family life as my younger daughter does. I have treated both girls alike all their lives so I cannot understand the difference in their behavior. Can you throw some light on this problem?"

Hurlock

(A.) You may feel that you have treated both exactly alike, but I question whether you actually have. Because the younger daughter is more responsive, you have doubtless shown her more affection. The older daughter has probably resented this.

When young women marry, it is natural and right for them to be mainly interested in their own homes and families. The woman who makes the greatest success of her marriage follows this pattern.

This, of course, does not mean that she should lose interest in her parental family. But if she is doing a good job of being a wife and mother she cannot give as much time to them as she did before she married.

If you want your older daughter to take her place as a member of a big, happy, family group, you must let her know how much her presence means to all of you. Going on the assumption that she feels you prefer the younger daughter to her, you should bend over backwards to be loving to her, even if she is not too responsive.

Jealousy can and often does carry over to adult years. The younger daughter has come out with the lion's share of your time and affection up to now. Now it is time to make up for the past in the case of your older daughter.

For traveling she wore a dressmaker suit in burnt straw tone with brown accessories and teal blue shortie coat. Her corsage was of gardenias. On return, Mr. and Mrs. Usecki will live in Victoria.

The wedding, held in Centennial United Church, joined in marriage Miss Patricia Lorraine Kilpatrick, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Kilpatrick, Vancouver, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Usecki of Lethbridge.

Rev. Douglas Carr performed the ceremony and the bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Ken Wannamaker.

A reception was held in McEwen's private dining room, where George Driscos, Vancouver, proposed a toast to the bride's health. A three-tier wedding cake flanked by candles and spring flowers centred the refreshment table. At the reception, Ronald Burton sang "Because."

9-Day Diet Good Guide For Planning All Meals

If you began my Nine-Day Reducing Diet when I first started printing it in this newspaper just a week ago, I know you are feeling very satisfied with yourself. This will be your seventh day. Some of you may have missed the first day or so and may be waiting for the Nine Day Diet Booklet. If so, begin as soon as you receive it.

Most women lose very successfully on this diet and according to many, many letters which come to me, they do so with little or no discomfort. I can see why this is true because you can use these menus as a guide in planning all of your meals; as a habit of life.

When you have finished the Nine Day Diet do not return to your old habits of rich or devitalized food; instead, remember the general principles upon which this diet is built. Here are a few of them.

1. Broil or bake. Do not fry food as a habit.
2. Learn to eat fresh fruit as dessert. When you use canned fruits use those which are water packed.
3. Get up from the table, always, feeling as though you could enjoy just a little more. In other words never stuff yourself.
4. When you are a guest select the less fattening foods whenever you can without being rude. When this is not possible take some of everything. You do not have to eat all of it.
5. Do not eat in between meals unless it is to build your intake of milk or fresh fruits or citrus juices.
6. Keep your diet high in protein and minerals and vitamins.

(Eighth Day)

Dinner: Minute or club steak (small), one-half cup string beans, one-half cup squash, one-half glass skimmed milk, orange slices.

If you have missed some of the menus and would like to have all of them in a little pocket size booklet send ten cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Penson, Munro Street, wore a waltz length gown of Chantilly lace with scooped neckline dotted with sequins and pearls. Cancer Research Her Field

A slight heart condition that kept her from going into general practice when she concluded medical training turned Dr. Lucille Wilson into the far more important field of cancer research.

Today she is assistant pathologist in the Cancer Clinic at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Eyes twinkling and her whole face radiating health and happiness, this clever young woman gives you a sense of confidence and well-being the minute you meet her.

And you know, that in the fight to conquer cancer, she is right in there pushing.

What she neglects to tell you is that few women are in this branch of the work.

Dr. Wilson formerly called Toronto her home but two years ago, when she succeeded in getting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson of Cordova Bay, to come to the Pacific Coast, she changed her allegiance to Victoria.

"Always will be now," she says with a twinkling smile.

She received her training at Portland's Good Samaritan Hospital and in the University of Oregon and took summer school courses at Reed College. She has specialized in the study of abnormal cells in the human body but reminds you that she had to study normal cells, too. "You must know one before the other."

Her great interest today is in diagnosis and she is enthusiastic about the new methods of cancer treatment, including radio isotopes and the cobalt bomb.

There is a staff of 30 under Dr. Wilson in the cancer clinic here. "All girls except the chemist," she says proudly, "and of course, the boss, Dr. R. D. D. McNeely."

Her extra-curricular interests at present are in the success of the conquer cancer drive which is continuing throughout the month of April.

Esquimalt—A film will be shown and refreshments served at the Esquimalt PTA meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the High School.

Opening lead—♣ K

South's opening bid of four spades in today's hand was a good choice. An expert will often make an opening bid of three with a broken suit and a desperate mood, but the opening bid of four is reserved for more solid hands.

In this case the bid worked, for the opponents were shut out of the auction. If the bidding had been tame, East might have found the cheap sacrifice of five diamonds, which would have cost only 100 points.

Mind you, a sacrifice of 100 points would have been no glorious victory for East-West since they could have beaten four spades. In fact, however, they let South make the vulnerable game, and this cost them far more than 100 points.

West opened the king of clubs and dummy won. When a low heart was returned from dummy, East was afraid to play low. East's ace caught West's king, and East returned the 10 of hearts. South covered with the queen and West ruffed.

Now West had to get back to his partner's hand for another heart ruff. It was clear that East had led the highest heart available in order to request a return in the higher side suit—diamonds rather than clubs. When West obediently led a diamond, South ruffed, drew trumps and claimed 10 tricks.

If West had led the queen of clubs instead of a diamond, East would have ruffed. A heart return would then defeat the contract.

Almanac Discusses Salk Vaccine Tonight on 2 at 7

HAVE YOU BEEN experiencing trouble with Channel 5 in the past few months.

If not you are fortunate, for many viewers in various parts of the city have experienced trouble with the Seattle station's picture which has been difficult to keep synchronised with the transmitter.

Members of the local chapter of RETA (Radio Electronic Technicians Association) mentioned the matter to Mique Tallcott, KING-TV engineer, when he was visiting Victoria last month. Over the week-end Norm Tovey, RETA secretary, received Mr. Tallcott's answer.

The fault has been found and rectified, he reports. It lay in the vertical synchronisation. However, he now hopes that Channel 5's trouble will be a thing of the past.

RETA members here agree that the improvement is already apparent.

UNTIL CANADA is linked from coast to coast by cable radio will still be king as far as spot news is concerned. We had two excellent examples of this during the past week. The first was the NHL play-offs between Detroit and Montreal, the second was the Thomas strait swim attempt. For both we had to rely on poor, much-looked-down-upon radio.

DR. MARCUS LONG, prominent Canadian educationalist from Toronto, will discuss "Television And Its Public" in a 15-minute special talks feature Tuesday night over Channel 2 at 7.45.

Appearing with him will be Dr. Arthur L. Phelps, lecturer in English at the University of British Columbia. They will discuss the quality of TV programs, what TV can and can't do well and the responsibility to the public of those who decide and produce the programs viewers will see.

Kiddies' Korner

5.00: Hidden Pages, Channel 2; Pinky Lee, 4; Sheriff Tex, 5; Robot Roundup, 11.

6.00: Superman, Channel 5; Hopalong Cassidy, 13.

7.00: Dick Tracy, Channel 13 (serial).

Sport

Headliners

7.00: Channel 2: The Monday night edition of Bill Bellman's Almanac will be devoted to discussions and films related to the recent announcement that Dr. Jonas E. Salk's improved polio vaccine was officially judged safe and effective. Guests will include W. R. Ferguson, provincial president of the B.C. Polio Fund; Dr. Bill Gibson, chairman of the department of Neurological Research, UBC; and Dr. George Elliot, assistant provincial health officer, B.C. government. Film items include a message on the importance of the vaccine to B.C. residents by Hon. Eric Martin, B.C. minister of health and welfare.

Channel 11's Studio One offers "Affairs of State," which gives saleswoman Betty Furness the opportunity to be a dramatic actress. It's about a plain spinster who arrives in Washington to help her uncle, an elder statesman. There is also a bachelor senator.

Other programs at this time include Life With Elizabeth on Channel 4.

7.15: Channel 5: Gardeners may enjoy John Hanley at this time.

8.00: Channel 4: Sid, Nanette and the gang do a Victors sketch plus one of their superb silent movie take-offs. An older Sid Caesar hour can be found on Channel 2.

On Channel 5: TV Reader's Digest stars Merry Anders and Richard Long in "Honeymoon in Mexico." It's a true story and most unusual (we hope). A young married couple visit a Mexican town and discover they are the "parents" of 10 Mexican children.

The Burns and Allen comedy sparkles on Channel 11. Bishop Fulton Sheen is on 12 and the Heart of the City drama on 13.

8.30: Howard Barlow conducts the Firestone concert on Channel 5. Guests include tenor Robert Rounseville and pianist George Feyer.

Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts are on 11.

9.00: Channel 11: Lucy gets into the bedroom of Cornel Wilde on the I Love Lucy program.

On 5 the Falcon drama is "Wheel of Fortune," about a war hero getting mixed up with various guys and dolls, not all of them nice.

Channel 4: Linda Stirling, Jeanne Baird star in Medic's "My Child's Keeper," wherein a mother blames a child for the death of her own youngster.

An older Dargnet program occupies Channel 2.

9.30: Channel 4: Robert Montgomery is scheduled to present "The Great Gatsby," a TV adaptation of the famed F. Scot Fitzgerald novel. But Mr. Montgomery was taken ill last week while readying for the play so there is a possibility that another will be substituted, possibly "Such A Busy Day Tomorrow."

Channel 5: "Total Recall" is the name of the Star and the Story vehicle. A honeymooning couple receives peculiar letters.

10:00: Channel 2 shows the the drama "Cross My Heart", wherein an adolescent feels she is misunderstood by her parents and decides to run away.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

MONDAY, APRIL 18, 1955

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Quietly showing all to whom you are attached or with whom you have outside interests that you appreciate their loyalty brings new wealth or response that makes whole future more enjoyable, worth-while.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—This is your day to contact every other person or any group with whom you desire to have any working arrangement in days to come. Discuss all points and come to real meeting of minds right now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Contacting those who have any power or control over your affairs, letting them know your views brings them awakening that you are unusually gifted, logical-thinking individual. Organize budget, practical property matters.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Now you have so much inspiration, high aspirations, ingenious ideas that you would be wise to expand in all directions. Get added data from newspaper, other periodicals, then full speed ahead. Show your abilities.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—You are loaded with correct intuitions that you can take to confidants, experts and get their assistance in putting swiftly into operation. Keep mum about your plans elsewhere. Doing is better than talking about them.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Much chit-chit, apparently irrelevant, nevertheless reveals all kinds of delightful ways to please every single individual with whom you have any dealings. P.M. entertain partners, companions, opponents.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Now you can really make your surroundings so filled with charm, attractiveness, harmony, efficiency, that you attract whomever you desire to have a part of your existence. Get apparel in fine condition, too. Control diet.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Now you can really bring out that unusual magnetism with which you are so powerfully endowed. Fine for sports, creative work, amusements, recreation, romance. Be happy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Fine day to keep your attention riveted upon ways to increase your assets as well as sense of security where home, family, property are in any sense involved. Stop talking so much and do your job well.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Have you completed all those chores that require higher degree of efficiency than has been expressed in past? Fine for any communication, transportation conferences, decisions. Keep mentally on the beam now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 2 to Feb. 19)—Looking at the over-all monetary situation that now faces you brings very intelligent solution that increases your possessions without extra labor. Bring your ideas to those in power for best results.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—This is your day to howl. Go after what you want with courage, coolness, confidence, consideration and it's quickly yours. Let nothing keep you from a positive, forthright attitude. Charm others into seeing things your way.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TUESDAY . . .

Tuesday's child is one of those fortunate youngsters who will have a well-balanced nature in that he or she has spiritual, mental, manual and domestic attunement that brings the support of all with whom there is any contact. However, your offspring is apt to be too inert unless you early teach that only what is earned by one's own efforts is truly enjoyed and appreciated. Fine chart for one who can rise to peak of success in spiritual, financial, educational, scientific vocations, depending upon which field interest has been cultivated.

"TREAD SAFELY"
Know the Answers About Goodyear Retreading

QUESTION—How do I know my tires will be completely checked before retreading?

ANSWER—A GOODYEAR retread tag is attached to your tire, and all these points are checked: Fabric, sidewalls, tread, nails, cuts, holes, body breaks, beads. Then your tire is marked "Accepted" or "Rejected"! We never retread a tire that isn't worth retreading!

HIS TONGUE RAN AWAY WITH HIS $100

WESTMORELAND, Calif. (UP)—Municipal judge D. S. Saund fined traffic officer H. R. Yturralde $100 for lecturing a motorist too strongly.

The motorist, T. H. Hamilton of Brawley, Calif., complained that the officer used "loud and profane language" when Hamilton refused to sign a speeding citation. Hamilton contended he was not speeding.

CCL-TLC Drafting New Constitution

OTTAWA (CP)—Union chiefs negotiating for an amalgamation of Canada's two largest congresses today met to write a draft constitution for the unified body.

An eight-man unity committee of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Canadian Congress of Labor went to work on the constitution following preliminary drafting of a sub-committee in the past few weeks.

Western Powers Must Offset Totalitarianism in S.E. Asia

Western control is disappearing in southeast Asia and the problem is to leave a basis of democratic government to offset totalitarianism.

So said Sir Sydney Caine, British colonial office expert and vice-chancellor, University of Malaya, in an address Saturday before the newly-formed Victoria branch of the English speaking Union.

Sir Sydney predicted that British control in Malaya would stop within 10 or 15 years, as young Malays were now being trained to take over civil service and administration work.

But there was little possibility,, he said, of any overnight change to bring the standard of living of Southeast Asia up to that of the west.

Red terrorists in Malaya have been less active within the past three years, and large military forces were constantly on the watch against them, he said.

Conquer Cancer Drive Needs Contributions

A renewed appeal was made today for contributions to the 1955 drive for funds to fight cancer.

Dugald Gillespie, chairman of the Victoria Conquer Cancer campaign committee, pointed out less than two weeks remain for completion of the fund drive.

Money is used to help needy patients, pay for a cancer education program, finance research and provide treatment and diagnostic facilities.

The campaign is conducted by the B.C. division of the Canadian Cancer Society and the B.C. Cancer Foundation.

The Canadian Cancer Institute campaign this year, said Mr. Gillespie, was the most intensive ever conducted in this country, with $500,000 earmarked for research alone.

Contribution to the Conquer Cancer campaign may be sent to campaign headquarters, 816 Wharf Street.

Grain Still Tied Up

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—A suggestion by government mediator Eric Taylor Sunday night that 1,200 striking grain handlers at the Lakehead go back to work until talks can be held with company officials was disregarded today.

EINSTEIN

every problem in it within three months.

At 11 he was able to discuss the philosophy of Immanuel Kant. By 14, he had taught himself algebra, analytical geometry and integral and differential calculus, none of which was part of his school curriculum.

When he took entrance examinations at the Polytechnic Academy in Zurich, Switzerland, where he planned to pursue his father's profession, his wizardry in mathematics and physics astounded his professors.

In addition to his technical studies, Einstein always was deeply interested in philosophy.

It was physics, however, that mainly occupied the budding scientist. He admitted later that he had concentrated on physics rather than mathematics because:

"It was not clear to me as a student that the approach to a more profound knowledge of the basic principles of physics is tied up with the most precise mathematical methods.

"This dawned on me only after years of independent scientific work."

He said he learned early to study only what led to the fundamentals and "to turn aside from everything else.

"The hitch in this was, of course, the fact that one had to cram all this stuff into one's mind for the examinations, whether one liked it or not. This coercion had such a deterring effect that after I passed the final examination, I found the consideration of any scientific problems distasteful to me for an entire year."

This led Einstein to comment many years later: "It is in fact nothing short of a miracle that the modern methods of instruction have not entirely strangled the holy curiosity of inquiry."

Einstein answered much of his mail personally. He stepped down from his higher mathematics frequently and with apparent delight to aid those less gifted than he.

He maintained that two consecutive odd numbers—the difference of whose square is 56—may be negative as well as positive.

The youth went to Einstein's home for a solution.

Einstein himself answered the door and the youth explained the situation.

"You're right," Einstein said simply.

CCF Trotskyites In House—Harris

TORONTO (CP) — Finance Minister Harris said here Saturday there are Trotskyites among the CCF members of Parliament.

Mr. Harris, who made the remarks at the annual meeting of the Toronto and York Liberal Association, did not mention any names.

But he said the recent expulsion of 14 persons from the Ontario CCF on the grounds they had Communist leanings should not be looked upon as unusual.

He suggested some CCF members of Parliament might be expelled on similar grounds.

The finance ministers' remarks followed a report to the annual convention of the B.C. and Yukon section of the CCF in Vancouver where it was charged a Trotskyite group cost the party the 1952 provincial election.

"I'm a big fellow, with a big appetite. But after a good meal I used to have gas on the stomach so bad I couldn't help belching and burping. A druggist suggested Digestif Rennie Tablets. Now, after a big meal—I suck one or two Rennies. If you're embarrassed by burps and belches, try Rennies," writes William J. Cook, Waterloo, Ont.

Don't let sour stomach or indigestion spoil a good meal—suck a Digestif Rennie Tablet. Rennies are gentle, with a drip-by-drip action that neutralizes excess acids—soothes upset, gassy stomach. 25c at druggists.

Mental Patients End Riot After Injuring 13

RUSK, Tex. (AP) — Eighty crazed inmates rioted Saturday at the Rusk State Hospital and held their superintendent and two others hostage at knifepoint for six hours before giving up. At least 13 persons were injured.

They surrendered their hostages, gave up their knives, baseball bats, scissors and other weapons and returned to their rooms after a dramatic doorstep talk with Texas Ranger Capt. Bob Crowder.

The riot leader, six-foot Ben Riley a teen-ager from Topeka, Kan., held an ice pick in the back of the captive superintendent, Dr. Charles W. Castner, as he bargained with the drawling, slow-talking Texas Ranger.

Dr. Castner, unhurt, was freed. Also freed, but beaten up, were the other hostages, ward superintendent Clyde White and attendant Bill Curtis.

Less than an hour later Dr. Castner, White and a member of the state hospital board returned to the inmates' ward to talk face-to-face with them about their complaints.

CBUT Ban on White Shirts Old Hat, Says U.K. Expert

VANCOUVER (BUP) — Vancouver television is about 18 years behind British TV according to a British music adjudicator.

Prominent English author, musician and critic, Lionel Salter, here to adjudicate the B.C. Musical Festival, found he was improperly dressed for a TV appearance in Vancouver.

He was told his white shirt was "too glary."

Salter said that the last time he was told not to wear a white shirt by British TV technicians was in 1937.

"We've been wearing white shirts on television ever since." He said.

Negro Conductor At New York Opera

U.K. Labor Party, Canada's CCF 'Exact Parallels', Says Attlee

By MONTE ROBERTS

The British Lbor Party and the Canadian Commonwealth Federation are exact parallels, Clement Attlee told The Times in an exclusive interview today.

The leader of the British party spoke in his Empress Hotel suite, in the presence of four prominent CCFers: Arnold Webster, B.C. leader; Ernest Winch, veteran MLA; Frank Snowsell, former MLA for Saanich, and Lorne Ingle, national CCF secretary.

Mr. Attlee was asked: "Do you consider the CCF movement here similar to your labor party in Britain?"

He replied: "Yes, very much so. Politically we are the same. I would say our economic objectives are also parallel."

Mr. Webster agreed the two parties were "exact parallels."

"We are free democratic socialists," Mr. Attlee explained. "We are dead against totalitarians."

At a previous press conference in Vancouver, Mr. Attlee had refused to comment on the future of the CCF party. "That's a Canadian matter, and I shouldn't interfere." he said.

The veteran advocate of nationalization (if he wins the May 26 election, his party will renationalize the transport and steel industries) was relaxed and in a quietly smiling mood today.

Prior to his speech tonight in Memorial Arena, his Victoria hosts planned an extensive motor tour of the city and surrounding districts, including a drive to the Malahat summit.

"I've seen little of your city so far," he remarked. "But what I've seen is truly beautiful."

It is his first visit to the B.C. capital.

Mr. Attlee was asked to comment on the growth of the Social Credit party in Canada, which now controls two provincial governments.

"I don't know about strength here," he said, "but if Social Credit is growing in Canada, it is the only place in the world that I know of where it is growing.

"In England, Social Credit is a dead issue. I can't remember anyone who is a Social Crediter."

NO GREEN SHIRTS

Mr. Attlee's eyes twinkled as he grinned, jokingly, "a long time ago we had some of them running around in green shirts. But we don't have anyone wearing fancy shirts over there now."

Up until time for his speech today he was looking forward to a bit of a holiday after his strenuous cross-Canada tour, sponsored by the National CCF party. His tour was curtailed so he could plunge into the election campaign, and tonight will see his final public appearance.

He visited City Hall at 10.15 a.m., to be greeted by Mayor Claude Harrison and municipal reeves. An informal visit to the Veterans' Hospital was to be worked in today if possible.

CAN BE SHARP

Although he is a forceful public speaker, Mr. Attlee in private is quiet, humorous, friendly. Slight in build, stooped in shoulder, he gives one the impression of mildness, although he has been known to be extremely sharp with questioners.

His manner is that of the professor emeritus with a world of knowledge in his head, a successful career behind him, and peace and contentment ahead.

Actually, as the world knows, he faces a slam-bang fight to defeat the Conservative government, and immediately upon his return to England will start hammering away at the issues of the campaign—mainly the cost of living, which, he says, has risen sharply during the life of the present government.

He doesn't feel Sir Winston's retirement will make any difference to the election, and that the Labor party would win in any event.

As he entered City Hall this morning, a bystander called, "There goes the next prime minister of England."

Clem Hails School Chum He Knew 54 Years Ago

Two former British schoolboys were reunited at City Hall this morning. They hadn't seen one another for 54 years since they attended England's Haileybury College.

Recognition was almost instantaneous. The one visiting here from England recalled the address of the other's father, quoted the first names of both his brothers.

The visitor used to be a noted rugger player at Haileybury and the local man, J. H. Frank of Comox, asked him, "Bet you can't run as fast as you did then?"

"No, no," laughed former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

Attlee expressed surprise and regret when he was told in Victoria today of the death of Albert Einstein.

"I had never met him, but he was a great man," he said.

Ticket sales for the Attlee address at 8 tonight at Memorial Arena were stepped up with arrival of the former British PM this morning.

Bandung Talks Open With Slap At Communism

(From AP and UP)

BANDUNG, Indonesia — Irak's Foreign Minister Fadhil Jamali denounced international Communism before the Asian-African conference today and drew prolonged applause from many of the 29 delegations.

Jamali charged "international communism is a materialistic religion that breeds hatred among classes and peoples." Prime Minister Nehru's Indian delegation heard out the speech in silence.

Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China listened with set face and later passed up a chance to use the forum of the 29-nation Afro-Asian conference to reply. It appeared he had turned to a "soft line" to win support for Peiping.

Diplomatic sources had speculated before the conference began he might try to win support for his policies by impeccable behavior. Today he was all smiles.

"Communism is a new form of colonialism much more dangerous to us than the old colonialism," declared Jamali, whose Arab country is linked indirectly with the North Atlantic powers through an alliance with Turkey. "No nation on earth is free from its effects."

CONGRATULATED BY ALI

Premier Mohammed Ali of Pakistan, which has a mutual aid treaty with the United States, walked across the conference room shook hands with Jamali and congratulated him at the end of the speech.

Indonesian President Soekarno opened the conference with a declaration that the population of Asia and Africa, totalling more than a billion, "can inject the voice of reason into world affairs."

The inaugural session of the week-long meeting—first of its kind—was a mass of vivid colors as the 400 delegates in their contrasting national costumes circulated about the white-walled, fluorescent-lit ballroom of the Dutch Club.

SPEAKS IN ENGLISH

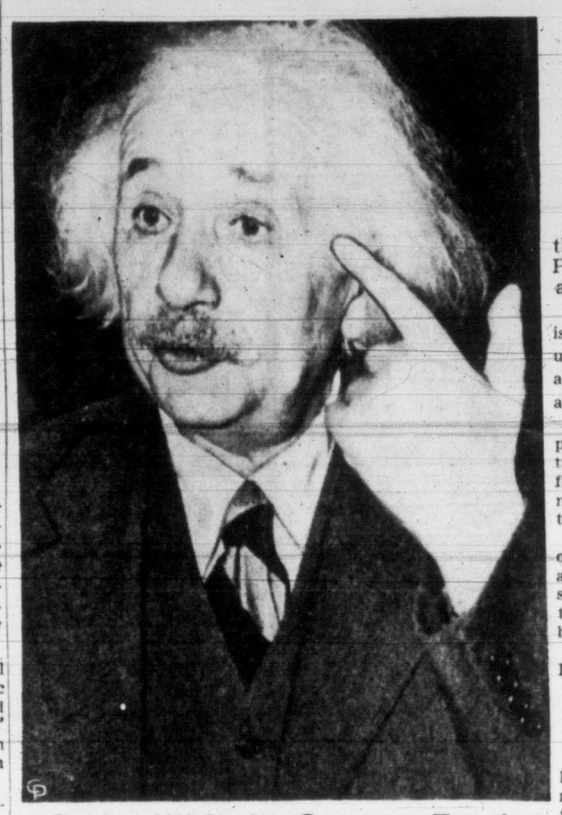
"Today we are faced with a situation where the well being of mankind is not always the primary consideration. Many who are in places of high power think, rather, of controlling the world."

"We are living in a world of fear," he continued, "fear of the future, of the hydrogen bomb and of ideologies."



Genius—With the Common Touch

'GREATEST ACHIEVEMENT—OF INTELLECT'

Desert Became Green Glass When Simple Formula Tried

PRINCETON, N.J. (UP) — In 1905, Einstein propounded the famous equation which set men on the search for atomic energy.

It still looks simple—E equals MC2. Translated: Energy equals mass (in grams) times the speed of light (in centimeters) squared.

On July 16, 1945, mass and the speed of light fused a bit of New Mexico desert into green glass when the first atomic bomb exploded.

The "simplicity" of the atomic formula, however, may prove among the least of Einstein's contributions to the understanding of the universe.

Einstein's special and general theories of relativity, published in 1905 and 1916, illuminated by his further work, were described by Bertrand Russell in 1924 as "probably the greatest synthetic achivement of the human intellect up to the present time."

In them, Einstein propounded the inter-relation of the forces of matter and energy, space and time, gravitation and inertia, into a cosmic whole.

Einstein once gave this as his formula for success:

"If A is success in life, the rule might be expressed:

"A equals X plus Y plus Z.

"X being work and Y being play and Z keeping your mouth shut."

Einstein won world renown as a scientist, but he once said that if he had to do it over again he would not go into that field.

"I would rather choose to be a plumber or a peddler in the hope to find that modest degree of independence still available under present circumstances."

During the 1920s, Einstein's theory of relativity became a popular topic of speculation and jokes by laymen who understood nothing of it. One popular limerick about it ran:

Thre was a young lady called Bright,
Who could travel much faster than light;
She went out one day
In a relative way,
And came back the previous night.

Then there was Franklin P. Adams' gibe at the several famous Steins, which went:

Marvelous is the family of Stein;
There's Ep, there's Gert and there's Ein.
Ep's statues are junk,
Gert's poems are punk,
And nobody understands Ein.

WANT LONG LIFE? HERE'S RECIPE

Giant Intellect, Daring Mathematics Blazed Science Trail

(Compiled From AP and UP Dispatches)

The frail little cosmic physicist, whose theory of relativity unlocked the door to the atomic age, died at 1.15 a.m. with only a nurse at his bedside.

Einstein had entered the hospital secretly last Friday for treatment of a gall bladder inflammation. His condition was not considered critical at that time.

Dr. Thomas S. Harvey, pathologist at Princeton Hospital, said a condition known as arteriosclerosis developed a blister on the side of the aorta, which broke and caused a hemorrhage.

"The leak of blood was slow," Dr. Harvey said, "and Dr. Einstein eventually lost enough blood to cause death."

Mrs. William Russell, secretary to Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, director of the Institute for Advanced Study, where Einstein worked for more than 20 years, said funeral services would be "strictly private." They will not be announced in advance, she said.

The sky, white-haired scholar was credited with making possible the atomic bomb by disclosing a small quantity of matter could produce vast amounts of energy.

Monumental Treatise

As recently as 1950, he published a monumental mathematical treatise, the unified field theory. This was hailed as a daring type of mathematics which sought to describe the forces of the universe in a set of equations.

At the time of his death, Einstein was a professor emeritus at the Institute for Advanced Study, comprised of world-famous scholars and headed by Dr. Oppenheimer. During his late years, he was outspoken in many causes far removed from the realm of theoretical physics.

On several occasions he advised witnesses called before Congress subversive investigations committee that they had a duty to refuse to answer questions.

Einstein asked the president for commutation of the death sentence of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, who were executed as atom spies.

He said he had to take the stand because of "my passionate sense of social justice and social responsibilities."

The quiet, unpretentious wizard of mathematics and physics, spent his lifetime searching for a unified mathematical concept of the laws that govern the universe.

World-Famed at 26

Born in Ulm, Germany, March 14, 1879, of middle class Jewish parents, he was swept to international fame by the theory of relativity which he devised at the age of 26.

A revolutionary idea, it added a fourth dimension, time, to the trio—length, breadth and width—which had formed man's basic knowledge of the measurement of matter. It also astounded scientists by disputing Newton's law of gravitation.

It was Einstein's disclosure, many years ago, that a small quantity of matter could produce astronomical quantities of energy, which was so spectacularly proved when the first atomic bomb exploded.

In 1945, shortly after the dropping of the bomb on Hiroshima, he commented:

"A present atomic energy is not a boon to mankind, but a menace." He saw one hope, however, that "it many intimidate the human race to bring order into its international affairs, which, without pressure of fear, it undoubtedly would not do."

Equations Aided TV

Though few people understood Einstein's complex theories, his work is one of the important bases of today's electronic and television industries, and the great industrial developments which rely partly on the laws of atomic mass and energy.

He received the Nobel prize in physics in 1921 and the world heaped honors and adulation upon the modest scientist, who pleaded:

"Let every man be respected as an individual and no man idolized. It is an irony of fate that I myself have been the recipient of excessive admiration and respect from my fellows through no fault of my own."

Voluntary Exile

Einstein came to Princeton as a lifetime member of the institute in 1933, a voluntary exile from his native Germany, where the Nazis listed him as "an enemy of the state."

During recent years, Einstein headed a group of nationally-prominent scientists who comprised the Emergency Committee of Atomic Scientists. The organization was formed "to advance the use of atomic energy in ways beneficial to mankind."

An ardent Zionist, Einstein was among those who, after the Second World War, urged the free entry of Jews into Palestine and establishment of a democratic Jewish commonwealth in that country.

In a message to the world college of intellects at Warsaw in 1948, Einstein advocated a "supra-national organization" to own what he called "horrible weapons" devised in recent years.

He was a member of a committee of 15 famous scientists, formed in 1948, as the scientists' committee on loyalty problems, to provide a fair deal for scientists accused of disloyalty to the United States.

The life of this amazing intellectual giant was simple and modest. His disdain for personal glory and material gain were almost a legend. His baggy-clad figure, a pipe perpetually in his mouth, and his long shaggy white hair and mustache, made him instantly recognizable almost anywhere in the world.

In his leisure Einstein loved to play the violin and to go sailing.

Twice Married

Einstein was married twice. First in 1903 to Mileva Maric, a Serbian Catholic whom he later divorced. They had two sons, Albert, now professor of hydraulics at University of California, and Edward, still in Switzerland. The second marriage in 1915 was to Elsa Einstein, his first cousin, who bore him two daughters, Ilse, who died in 1934, and Margot.

After his second wife's death in 1936, Einstein lived a secluded life in Princeton with his daughter Margot, and his housekeeper - secretary, Miss Helen Dukas.

Einstein, in his efforts to hammer out a mathematical concept of the universe, once told his fellow scientists, "I cannot believe that God plays dice with the world."

The learned teacher also commented he had "a kind of faith that helped me through my whole life—not to become hopeless in the great difficulties of investigation."

From Einstein's father, Hermann, an electrical engineer, he got his first glimpses of the world of science. From his mother, Pauline Koch, he acquired his love of music and art.

Because he did not speak a word until he was three years old, his parents feared there might be something wrong with their child. They need not have worried.

At 10, he was given a geometry book and had mastered

Dulles Sees 'Grave Implications' In Red Air Build-Up Off Formosa

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told President Eisenhower Sunday that Red China has launched an intensive build-up of offensive air power opposite Formosa which has "grave implications" for the United States.

Dulles, who visited President Eisenhower at his vacation retreat here, said his country only learned of the Communist air activities in the "last few days" but they had been going on for several weeks.

Dulles, who returned to Washington Sunday after a two-hour conference with the president, said the Red build-up was "a considerable intensification and considerably broader in scope than anything that was known until recently."

He and the president discussed the "grave implications" surrounding the build-up, Dulles said, but he refused to say whether attacks on the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Matsu or the Nationalist stronghold of Formosa might be forthcoming. The secretary of state went on to say, however, that the increased airpower foreshadows a greater "capability" for attack "than we had been aware of a few weeks ago."

The United States only learned of the buildup "several days ago," Dulles said, upon receipt of new reports from the Far East.

A Communist buildup across the Formosa Straits was reported last month and Admiral Robert B. Carney, chief of naval operations, was identified as the source of the report.

The question of whether the president should proclaim the stand this nation will take in event of an attack on Quemoy or Matsou has been the subject of a hot controversy in recent weeks.

Several Republican leaders, among them Sens. William F. Knowland of California and Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, have urged Mr. Eisenhower to make known the administration's intentions.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Former President Truman today called on the United States to bring "the current threats to world peace" before the United Nations General Assembly.

"Wherever we can, we should use it," Mr. Truman said. "And we should use it now by bringing before the General Assembly the current threats to world peace."

Lone Thug Holds Up Vancouver Bank

VANCOUVER (CP)—A lone bandit held up a cashier at the Georgia Street branch of the Toronto-Dominion Bank shortly after 2 p.m. here today and escaped with about $1,000 in cash.

Bank officials said the bandit threatened the cashier with what appeared to be a gun hidden in a brown paper bag, grabbed the money and escaped on foot.

Hartack Rides 5 Straight Winners

Hartack, who was the top rider at the Bowie meeting, which closed Saturday, just missed in the sixth as his mount placed second. He picked up another second in the seventh. He had no mount in the eighth.

A $2 win parley on Hartack's five winners would have brought back $3,975.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Defense Department said today that aside from petty thefts there are 11 investigations in progress concerning thefts in the armed services.

Colin Cameron, CCF MP, Target of Harris Gibe

OTTAWA (BUP)—Colin Cameron (CCF—Nanaimo) was the CCF MP meant by Finance Minister Walter Harris in a Toronto speech Saturday in which he implied there might be Trotskyites in the Socialist parliamentary group.

CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell, shortly after the Commons met today, challenged Harris to name the members.

Harris said that newspaper reports of his speech, made to a Liberal association gathering, were not accurate in stating that he had said "some members (of the CCF Commons' group) are Trotskyites."

Harris said his remarks were prompted by a letter sent by Cameron to the Ontario organization at the time it was taking action to expel 14 Trotskyites.

Cameron, in his letter, was quoted as opposing the expulsion of Paddy Stanton, whom he described as valuable as "a goad . . . an agitator . . . a rabble rouser."

"That was a pretty fair description of the man who wrote the letter," Harris said. "That's the implication I meant" (in the Saturday speech).

Harris said he was sorry Cameron was not in his Commons seat to hear his explanation.

U.K. Labor Party, Canada's CCF 'Exact Parallels', Says Attlee

By MONTE ROBERTS

The British Labor Party and the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation are exact parallels, Clement Attlee told The Times in an exclusive interview today.

The leader of the British party spoke in his Empress Hotel suite, in the presence of four prominent CCFers: Arnold Webster, B.C. leader; Ernest Winch, veteran MLA; Frank Snowsell, former MLA for Saanich, and Lorne Ingle, national CCF secretary.

Mr. Attlee was asked: "Do you consider the CCF movement here similar to your Labor party in Britain?"

He replied: "Yes, very much so. Politically we are the same. I would say our economic objectives are also parallel."

Mr. Webster agreed the two parties were "exact parallels."

"We are free democratic socialists," Mr. Attlee explained. "We are dead against totalitarians."

At a previous press conference in Vancouver, Mr. Attlee had refused to comment on the future of the CCF party. "That's a Canadian matter, and I shouldn't interfere," he said.

Clem Hails School Chum He Knew 54 Years Ago

Two former British schoolboys were reunited at City Hall this morning. They hadn't seen one another for 54 years since they attended England's Haileybury College.

Recognition was almost instantaneous. The one visiting here from England recalled the address of the other's father, quoted the first names of both his brothers.

The visitor used to be a noted rugger player at Haileybury and the local man, J. H. Frank of Comox, asked him, "Bet you can't run as fast as you did then?"

"No, no," laughed former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

Attlee expressed surprise and regret when he was told in Victoria today of the death of Albert Einstein.

"I had never met him, but he was a great man," he said.

Ticket sales for the Attlee address at 8 tonight at Memorial Arena were stepped up with arrival of the former British PM this morning.

"But there are lots of good seats left yet," an official said at presstime. All seats are 50 cents.

Takin' m' camera when I swim th' Strait, so's I kin win th' Times' $1,000 an' mebbe another $400 fer a pitcher o' Caddy.

Eisenhower Tribute: Greatest Contribution To Current Knowledge

(Compiled From AP and UP Dispatches)

The frail little cosmic physicist, whose theory of relativity unlocked the door to the atomic age, died at 1.15 a.m. with only a nurse at his bedside.

Einstein had entered the hospital secretly last Friday for treatment of a gall bladder inflammation. His condition was not considered critical at that time.

Dr. Thomas S. Harvey, pathologist at Princeton Hospital, said a condition known as arteriosclerosis developed a blister on the side of the aorta, which broke and caused a hemorrhage.

"The leak of blood was slow," Dr. Harvey said, "and Dr. Einstein eventually lost enough blood to cause death."

Mrs. William Russell, secretary to Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, director of the Institute for Advanced Study, where Einstein worked for more than 20 years, said funeral services would be "strictly private." They will not be announced in advance, she said.

The shy, white-haired scholar was credited with making possible the atomic bomb by disclosing a small quantity of matter could produce vast amounts of energy.

U.S. PRESIDENT MOURNS LOSS

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower, in a statement on the death of scientist Albert Einstein, said today "no other man contributed so much to the vast expansion of 20th century knowledge.

Yet no other man was more modest in the possession of the power that is knowledge, more sure that power without wisdom is deadly."

Monumental Treatise

As recently as 1950, he published a monumental mathematical treatise, the unified field theory. This was hailed as a daring type of mathematics which sought to describe the forces of the universe in a set of equations.

At the time of his death, Einstein was a professor emeritus at the Institute for Advanced Study, comprised of world-famous scholars and headed by Dr. Oppenheimer. During his late years, he was outspoken in many causes far removed from the realm of theoretical physics.

On several occasions he advised witnesses called before Congress subversive investigations committee that they had a duty to refuse to answer questions.

Einstein asked the president for commutation of the death sentence of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, who were executed as atom spies.

He said he had to take the stand because of "my passionate sense of social justice and social responsibilities."

The quiet, unpretentious wizard of mathematics and physics, spent his lifetime searching for a unified mathematical concept of the laws that govern the universe.

World-Famed at 26

Born in Ulm, Germany, March 14, 1879, of middle class Jewish parents, he was swept to international fame by the theory of relativity which he devised at the age of 26.

A revolutionary idea, it added a fourth dimension, time, to the trio—length, breadth and width—which had formed man's basic knowledge of the measurement of matter. It also astounded scientists by disputing Newton's law of gravitation.

It was Einstein's disclosure, many years ago, that a small quantity of matter could produce astronomical quantities of energy, which was so spectacularly proved when the first atomic bomb exploded.

Genius—With the Common Touch

A characteristic photograph of Einstein, his hand raised as he propounded a point, recalls the genius which was often buried in the humble, retiring personality and stubborn free thinker who clashed often and bitterly with "witch-hunters."
